COUNTY PAYS LOW PRICES FOR ADVERTISING

W.S. Harlow Submits Data Showing That Oakland Papers Are the Poorest Paid in the State.

OAKLAND, Cal., August 15, 1905.

To the Honorable, the Board of Supervisors of Alameda County:

Gentlemen: Recent discussion relative to the prices paid for county advertising has led me to make some investigation of the subject with a view to ascertaining how the advertising prices charged by the Oakland newspapers compare with the prices obtained elsewhere.

I have been led to this because I am an old newspaper man, and have had an experience with newspapers and official advertising covering a period of over thirty years. I unhesitatingly state that the prices charged by the Oakland papers are the lowest to be found anywhere, taking into consideration the size of the city, the circulation of the papers and the value of the service performed. In proof of this I submit for your information and consideration the following data relative to rates charged by publications in other cities:

LADIES' HOME JOURNAL.

$6.00 per agate line making..... $84.00 per inch per insertion

LOS ANGELES TIMES.

Maximum..... $1.12 per inch each insertion
Minimum..... .84 per inch each insertion

LOS ANGELES HERALD.

Maximum..... $.98 per inch per insertion
Minimum..... .56 per inch per insertion

LOS ANGELES EXAMINER.

Maximum..... $2.80 per inch per insertion
Minimum..... .70 per inch per insertion

LOS ANGELES EXPRESS.

Maximum..... $1.12 per inch per insertion
Minimum..... .56 per inch per insertion

SAN FRANCISCO CALL.

Maximum..... $2.80 per inch per insertion
Minimum..... 1.68 per inch per insertion

SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE.

Maximum..... $4.20 per inch per insertion
Minimum..... 1.70 per inch per insertion

SAN FRANCISCO EXAMINER.

Maximum..... $4.20 per inch per insertion
Minimum..... 1.80 per inch per insertion

SAN FRANCISCO BULLETIN.

Maximum..... $2.80 per inch per insertion
Minimum..... 1.40 per inch per insertion

These rates are authoritative, having been obtained first hand from the publishers of the several journals. Incidentally, I may remark that the rates charged in San Jose and Sacramento are higher than those prevailing in Oakland; and while I regard the rates in those cities as extremely moderate in point of fact, they are very high in comparison with the rates received by the Oakland newspapers, in view of the relative value of the services rendered.

The results of my investigation prove conclusively that the merchants and taxpayers of this city and county are getting their advertising cheaper than any other community in the State, if not in the entire country. In their field the Oakland newspapers are second to none, and the service they render the community entitles them to a fair remuneration, which, in my judgment is much larger than they receive. A study of the columns of other newspapers will show that the Oakland papers are widely and appreciatively read throughout the State, and take front rank in their presentation of news and intelligent comment on public affairs. They are valuable advertising mediums, and their uniform excellence speaks well for this community abroad.

I may add that it is impossible to publish a good newspaper unless the prices received for advertising afford a reasonable compensation for the money expended in procuring news and employing capable writers, to say nothing of the energy and capital required to turn out a first-class newspaper under modern conditions. A community that cannot, or will not, properly support its newspapers cannot expect to be well served by its journals—must necessarily expect inferior service in return for inadequate compensation. Nor should a community expect its members to render service for compensation far less than the same service commands elsewhere.

Respectively,

W. S. HARLOW, 950 Broadway.

PEACE DELEGATES ARE UP TO THE FINAL ISSUE

"BUT YOU CAN GET IT, YOU KNOW!"—The New York World.

After a Long Discussion This Morning They Took a Recess Without Coming to Any Agreement.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., August 17.—The peace plenipotentiaries adjourned for luncheon at 12.30 o'clock, having spent the entire morning discussing article 9, which, it is believed, includes the question of Japan's reimbursement for the cost of the war. No agreement was reached and the commissioners temporarily laid it aside and proceeded to discuss the following article.

The official statement of the proceedings follows:

At the morning session of August 17 the plenipotentiaries discussed article 9. Not being able to reach an unanimous decision, the conference decided to record the divergence of views and proceeded to the discussion of the following article. The session then recessed until 3 o'clock.

The morning's discussion developed an absolute impasse. Both sides were obdurate. Neither would budge or yield an inch. Agreement being found to be impossible, the plenipotentiaries decided to spread upon the record their respective views and proceeded to the consideration of article ten, which provides for the surrender to Japan of the Russian warships interned in Far Eastern waters. This article was debated when recess until 3 o'clock was taken. It can be stated with almost absolute positiveness that the two remaining articles are in the following order:

Article 11, limitation of Russia's naval power in the Far East; article 12, the grant of fishing rights in the Russian littoral from Vladivostok to Bering Sea.

AT BREAKFAST.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., August 17.—The peace conference began at 9.50 this morning. The envoys were served breakfast at the naval stores building preceding the session.

The peace plenipotentiaries, who have alternately sweltered and chilled, shivered and been soaked, seemed in fine spirits when they started from the hotel today.

Most of the Japanese mission were so busy in preparing cables last night that they were in consequence a little behind the regular time in getting down stairs this morning. It was 9.30 before Mr. Takahira, followed by Baron Komura, and Mr. Sato, came down the veranda and received the usual respectful greetings from the guests, who invariably gather to see them off.

The Russian envoys were half way to the navy yard when the Japanese set out.

THE ARTICLES.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., August 17.—Five articles of the possible "treaty of Washington" remained to be considered when the peace plenipotentiaries resumed their session at the navy yard this morning—Sakhalien, upon which it had been impossible to agree, and which had been passed over, indemnity; limitation upon Russia's sea power; the surrender of the interned warships and the grant of fishing rights on the littoral of the maritime provinces. Remuneration for the cost of the war, it is believed, is number nine, the first article to come up today. How far it will be threshed out before it is passed over is problematical. Fishing rights Russia will yield.

ONE MAN KILLED IN THE POWDER EXPLOSION

Remains of Foreman, William R. Edris, Found by Workmen This Morning.

Ruin and desolation mark the scene of the explosion and destruction of several of the houses of the Judson Dynamite and Powder Works at Point Isabella, near West Berkeley, yesterday afternoon.

There is nothing left of the three structures which were destroyed either by explosion or razed to the ground by unquenchable flames.

What remains of the machinery is practically worthless save to the junk dealer. The loss will not be far from $40,000 in money, though happily the loss of life is not so great even as the most conservative estimate made yesterday, while the terrific forces which had been set free by the explosion were still engaged in their work.

ONLY ONE FATALITY.

Only one man was killed. He was William R. Edris, foreman of the nitro-glycerine house, whose home was at 1521 Fifth street, Berkeley, where his family survive. His charred and mangled remains were found today and taken to Martinez.

The most conservative estimate of the number of people sent to eternity by the explosion was that of THE TRIBUNE, which placed the loss at two men. This estimate was justifiable at the time for the reason that one of the supposed victims, Herman Felix, had not been accounted for and it was generally supposed that, as he had been working earlier in the day in the nitro-glycerine house, which had been blown off the face of the earth, he had disappeared with it and his remnants were scattered to the corners of the earth.

HOW FELIX ESCAPED.

It has since developed that Felix had left the nitro-glycerine plant after having completed the work of the day and had gone to another part of the plant. When the building was shattered, he was in a place of safety and immediately was pressed into service among the men who were fighting the flames which were eating their way over the dry grass of the fields and which threatened the ultimate destruction of every house in the plant.

DUTY LED TO DEATH.

Edris, Felix' superior, who was in charge of the nitro-glycerine plant, hurried about the structure after the run for the day had been made. This was customary on his part. He took a great deal of interest in his work, always remaining about the house to put and keep the machinery in good condition, on the theory that this, in the end, was a precaution which would min-

LONE ROBBER HOLDS UP HALF MOON BAY STAGE

SAN MATEO, Cal., August 17.—The stage running between Half Moon Bay and San Mateo was held up by a masked robber armed with a rifle, on the Crystal Springs road, about two miles from San Mateo, about 9 this morning. The driver was ordered to throw out the mail pouch and the Wells Fargo and Company's express box, and when he hesitated was threatened with death.

One of the passengers was ordered to pass the hat, but while doing so another team came along and the robber ordered the stage to proceed without taking the contents of the hat. In addition to the driver, there were four passengers, one being a lady, who was not molested. The robber represented the arrival of the other team, taking three shots at its driver, none taking effect.

The county officers formed a posse and are now in pursuit of the robber. The broken express box was found but he took the mail bag with him. The robber weighed about 180 pounds, and was 6 feet tall. He wore a black cap and overcoat and blue overalls. His face was covered with a black mask. It is reported that the contents of the express box were valued about $225, but no definite statement is obtainable.

MANY ARE KILLED IN A RAILROAD WRECK

NORFOLK, Va., August 17.—Twelve were killed and sixty injured in the Atlantic Coast line wreck this afternoon. The injured are now being brought to Norfolk and Portsmouth Hospitals. Nearly all the killed and injured are colored passengers.

NORFOLK, Va., August 17.—A report just received here says that an excursion train over the Atlantic Coast line from Kinston, N. C., bound for Norfolk, shot through an open draw near Bruce's Station, nine miles from Norfolk. The train was bringing some 500 persons from Kinston and intermediate points to Norfolk for a stay of today and tomorrow. The first report of the wreck was that a draw over the western branch of the Elizabeth river was open for a tug to pass through and the excursion train engine with one coach went overboard into twenty-five feet of water. Every physician in the city of Portsmouth has been summoned to the scene.

Many people are reported killed and injured, but authentic details are yet missing. A relief train bearing physicians has left Portsmouth for the scene. The wrecked train was due to arrive at Norfolk at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Following this train was an excursion train over the same road, bringing 300 excursionists from Rocky Mount, N. C. There was still another excursion train to arrive here over the Atlantic Coast line, this being composed of some 300 merchants and others from Augusta, Ga., Charleston, S. C., and Jacksonville, Fla., bound to Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York for the purchase of fall goods.

WANTS REVISION OF THE EXCLUSION ACT

Speaker at Trans-Mississippi Congress Would Restrict All Immigration.

PORTLAND, Or. August 17.—Whether it was the array of brilliant speakers, the prediction heralded by the local press that "disorder was to occur over the subject of restriction of Chinese immigration" or because the keen edge of the delegates' curiosity has been dulled by a cursory examination of the exposition, the attendance at the sessions of the Trans-Mississippi Congress today comfortably filled the commodious auditorium at the fair grounds.
Hon. John W. Noble, first vice-president of the congress, the chairman of the day, called to order the second day's session of the Trans-Mississippi Congress.
After a few words as to the importance to the West, and particularly to the Pacific Coast, of the topics to be considered today, General Noble said that on the subject of the "Columbia River" one of the best-posted men in the country and one who had done much for its benefit, would address the congress. General Noble then introduced Major W. C. Langitt, U. S. A.

MAJOR LANGITT.
Major Langitt's address was a compilation of figures showing the vast area drained by the Columbia river and the amount of Government effort expended on the deepening of it and the removal of the different obstructions.
"The natural outlet for the product of the fertile wheat lands of Eastern Oregon, Eastern Washington and Idaho," the speaker said, "is down the Columbia river to the sea and thence to the markets of the world. Unfortunately in its natural state there existed several complete barriers to ordinary river navigation. These are the cascades of the Columbia, the Dalles of the Columbia, between The Dalles and Celilo, Priest Rapids and other obstructions not necessary to mention here."
He added that the Snake river, which empties into the Columbia seventy-three miles below Priest Rapids, also reaches a large portion of the wheat and fruit lands of the eastern areas already mentioned.

COLUMBIA RIVER
He continued "The Columbia, between Celilo and the mouth of the Snake needs but a relatively small amount of work to render it easily navigable for river boats. The stretch between The Dalles and Celilo is now under improvement, work on Three-mile Rapids being prosecuted last season and to be completed this year. The first contract has been let for beginning construction of The Dalles-Celilo canal, which will pass river boats around the Five-mile and Ten-mile Rapids and Celilo

PEACE DELEGATES ARE UP TO THE FINAL ISSUE.

There only remain limitation upon Russia's sea power and the surrender of the interned warships.

FINAL STRUGGLE.

The final struggle is close at hand and preparations are being made for it. When the remaining points of possible agreement are demonstrated an adjournment will be taken probably until Monday, when the plenipotentiaries will show their last cards.

The Japanese are in the closest touch with their government. They are keeping Tokio advised of every development of the proceedings. It was three o'clock this morning when last night's stream of cables to Japan was completed.

THE WEATHER.

The weather since the arrival of the plenipotentiaries has strangely followed the prevailing sentiment as to the outcome. Today was bright and cheery. The sun shone gloriously. It was another page out of the wonderful weather book to which New England has treated her distinguished foreign guests. Last week the heat was unbearable and the plenipotentiaries were testy and angry. Saturday was cold and dreary and it looked as if a storm would break. But it did not and the fear that negotiations might be broken off when the meeting occurred in the afternoon after the presentation of the Russian reply, was happily averted.

Sunday was fair and bright. Tuesday it stormed and in the conference room the first unmountable barrier appeared—the cession of Sakhalien. Yesterday afternoon the weather cleared and the plenipotentiaries, while returning to the hotel, were treated to the sight of a glorious New England sunset.

TWO MAIN ISSUES.

The natural line of compromise on the two main issues between the peace plenipotentiaries comes out more and more clearly—Russia to yield Sakhalien to Japan upon Japan's pledge not to fortify the island or use it for military or strategic purposes and to allow equal fishing and commercial opportunities to the citizens of both countries, and Japan to forego remuneration for the "cost of the war," and to take instead such incidental monetary compensation as she will obtain from the transfer of the Liaotung and Port Arthur leases, the Chinese Eastern railroad and repayment of the maintenance of the 100,000 Russian prisoners.

Such an arrangement regarding Sakhalien might solve the problem so far as article five is concerned. The Russians, while admitting that the island is of little value to them commercially or from a military standpoint with Japan controlling the entrances to the Sea of Japan, nevertheless insist most strenuously that its military possession by Japan would constitute a constant threat against their maritime provinces. It is only separated from the mainland by the narrow straits of Tartary.

It could never be used by Russia for aggressive purposes, but if in unrestricted possession of Japan, she could at any time use it to concentrate an army for landing on the Asiatic coast. In winter the straits are frozen and an army could cross on the ice. In summer it would be only a matter of hours in boats. With Japan able to operate from Northern Korea by crossing the Turner river, the Russian maritime provinces and Vladivostok would be subjected to attack from two fronts.

COULD NOT AGREE ON VERDICT

JURY IN SESSIONS' DAMAGE SUIT AGAINST RAILROAD IF DISCHARGED.

The trial jury sitting in the Circuit Court before Justice Beatty in the case of Sessions vs. the Southern Pacific Company, in which the plaintiff sought to recover $20,000 damages from the railroad company for the death of Charles A. Sessions, which occurred in the wreck of the Owl Limited disagreed.

The Court in effect instructed the jury ground that unless the deceased had actually purchased a ticket or was riding on the train by authority of the proper officials of the corporation, the plaintiffs could not recover, and that if he was riding by invitation of the conductor of the train merely, the plaintiffs could not recover.

After seven hours of deliberation the jury refused to return a verdict in accordance with the instructions of the court. The jury was then sent out to the jury box to agree by special interrogatories submitted by the Court. The first was as to whether or not the deceased purchased a ticket; the second was whether he was riding by invitation of the conductor that he should ride free; and the third, had he paid his fare.

The jury finally declined to answer the interrogatories and returned a verdict of disagreement thereon. The controversy arose under the recent amendment to the codes which provides that special interrogatories might be submitted to the jury on questions of fact.

Attorney W. B. Rhinehart, for the plaintiffs, objected to regarding any verdict on the ground that there was no verdict, and a verdict of disagreement upon special issues was entered.

During the trial testimony was offered by the defendants to show that Conductor Dolan of the Owl train had permitted the deceased to ride upon the train as his guest at the request of Conductor Teeples who was a member of the Elk Lodge in Oakland, of which Sessions was also a member.

The wreck of the Owl on December 2, 1902, will be remembered as one of the most fatal in this section of the country. It was caused by a rear end collision of the Stockton flyer. The Owl was ahead of the flyer until it reached Byron station, when it stopped, and the Stockton flyer ran into the rear coach, killing and wounding over thirty people.

It would have been incredible brutality if Charles F. Lemberger, of Syracuse, N. Y., had not done the best he could for his suffering son. WHAT OAKLAND RAISES

Among the products of Alameda county received at the Board of Trade today is a long-stemmed rose representing this season's growth. It was raised by ex-City Clerk Rod W. Church and measures eight feet in length.

An immense radish measuring over fifteen inches in length and eleven inches in circumference grown by Gordon Robinson a pupil of the Cole School in the children's garden connected with the school, is a new addition today.

An Alexandria apple weighing over a pound together with ripe oranges and sprigs of orange blossoms grown and exhibited by Mrs. Herman Baker of 590 Cambridge street East Oakland are attracting considerable attention in the rooms of the Board of Trade.

RESCUE STEAMER SAILS

BERGEN, Norway, August 17.—The Arctic steamer Terra Nova, which under the command of William S. Champ, secretary of the late William Zeigler, rescued Anthony Fiala and the other members of the Zeigler polar expedition, sailed today for London.

MONEY MARKET HAS BEEN A LITTLE IRREGULAR

Crop Reports Indicate That the Season Will Be a Prosperous One Throughout Country.

NEW YORK, August 17.—The financial situation, taken as a whole, has shown no appreciable change during the week. As anticipated, the general market evinced distinct irregularity of fluctuations except in a number of specialties ruling moderately active within comparatively narrow ranges. At times there were evidences of profit-taking by some of the larger professional operators, who, however, supported the market in other directions while selling their own accumulations. But aside from this feature, complete absence of selling pressure continued and some of the high-grade investment stocks made further spectacular progress during the week, notably Lacawanna Delaware & Hudson and Jersey Central. This class of stocks, however, have now little more than sentimental connection with the speculative market, they are not themselves the subject of operations for either account their floating supply on the one hand being so limited that short operations are recognized to be exceedingly dangerous while, on the other hand, immediate and prospective dividend distributions seem to be fully accounted for by current quotations. This in turn is gradually concentrating speculative attention upon the lower-priced stocks, particularly the industrials, and it seems safe to assume that in any activity that may develop after the summer vacation period the industrial stocks will be particularly prominent.

MONTHLY CROP

The Government's monthly crop report on Thursday fully confirmed anticipations, and the fact that it expected no great influence on prices is readily explained by Wall Street's almost invariable policy of discounting future events. Information—authentic information—has been so generally available showing a brilliant grain harvest outlook that the character of the Government's statement, if it were to influence the stock market at all, must have been disappointing. The report shows that the country is to have a bumper corn harvest and almost a record-making yield of wheat. The corn yield interpreted into bushels by the statisticians of the grain exchange by a system of figuring that has in recent years been remarkably accurate when compared with final harvest returns at the close of the year, gives promise of 2,638 million bushels. The highest record heretofore was that furnished by the Census Bureau as the crop of 1899—2,654,400,000 bushels. The Government itself furnishes 2,614,000,000 bushels as preliminary estimate of winter wheat yield and the quantitative interpretation given the spring wheat promise is 285,331,000 bushels, together the indicate 2,900,000,000 bushels as the total yield, an increase of more than 157 million bushels over the 1904 harvest.

CROP PROMISE

In connection with the favorable crop promise the indications of an active foreign demand—some exporters claiming evidences of a foreign demand equal to that of our best export years—are certainly an important factor in the financial situation. American millers are taking new winter wheat and are contracting for new spring wheat to such an extent that shippers have thus far been practically unable to name terms or give returns to their foreign clients, who are showing much urgency. JULIAN KIRK IS LAID IN GRAVE

IMPRESSIVE SERVICE HELD IN ST. ANTHONY'S CHURCH, EAST OAKLAND.

St. Anthony's Church was filled this morning with friends of the family of the late Julian Kirk, for repose of whose soul a high requiem mass was celebrated. The Rev. Father P. McHugh officiated at the ceremony and made a short address of consolation near the close of the service.

The deceased was only eighteen years of age and a member of the League of the Cross Cadets and the Native Sons' lodge.

Three pallbearers from each organization carried the casket to the hearse. They were Ralph Knapp, George Dowling and Charles Mulgrew from the Cadets of the League, and William Wagner, John McNiece and Charles James from the Native Sons. The service was very impressive and lasted over an hour.

Schmidt's requiem mass was the one chosen for the service. At the conclusion of the ceremonies G. Woods of St. Ignace choir sang "Free as a Bird."

Excellent work was done by the members of the choir, composed as follows: Maria Leza, soprano, Mrs. F. Garcia and Miss May Leroux altos, Joseph Rosborough, bass, and Miss L. Nesbitt, organist.

Julian Kirk, the deceased, has lived in the parish all his life and leaves many warm friends to mourn his loss. His mother, Mrs. Julia Kirk, and brothers, Henry, Joseph, Clement, and Edward, and sisters, Loretta, Katherine and Rose Kirk, survive him.

After the services at St. Anthony's the friends accompanied the remains to St. Mary's cemetery.

DEATHS DECREASE IN SOUTH

NEW CASES ONLY SHOW A SLIGHT SPREAD OF THE DISEASE.

Noon fever report. New cases in New Orleans since 5 p. m., Wednesday, 18. Total cases to date, 1165.

Deaths today, two.

Total deaths, 178.

A considerable spread of the yellow fever has been shown in the reports of the past 24 hours, 43 new cases being unearthed in different localities in Louisiana and 9 in lower Mississippi. The last report from Ship Island quarantine station just outside of Mobile Bay is dated August 9 and showed seven new cases on that day.

NEW ORLEANS, August 17.—The relatively insignificant number of deaths here in the past 24 hours at a time when it was stated there would be some increase over the maximum figures already reported has made a fine impression on the local public confirming the view that the disease is losing its virulence in contact with modern forms of treatment. Of the nineteen new squares infected, twelve are immediately adjoining the squares previously reported as infected, showing the slight spread of the disease. A plot has been made showing the progress of the epidemic and the squares reached the Marine Hospital officers after the report closed and were under investigation today. A fine showing was made by the physicians and handling of the cases being reported from their private practice. Ten more were reported by the Emergency Hospital. Twenty-two of the cases were in the originally infected squares. Only five new cases were reported over Canal street, three adjoining squares already infected.

OAKLAND BOY IS MOTHER MAY KISS BURIED HER SON

E. B. ROBINSON IS LAID IN GRAVE AT MARE ISLAND.

VALLEJO, August 17.—The funeral of Seaman E. B. Robinson, one of the victims of the Bennington disaster, who was a son of Mrs. Emma Robinson of Oakland, was held today from St. Peter's Chapel at the Mare Island navy yard, with full naval honors.

Chaplain McAllister officiated, and an address was delivered by Rev. Angwin of the Methodist Church. Rear Admiral McCalla and other officers of the navy yard attended. A quartet from the "Lawton" sang. Pallbearers were sailors of the Independence, headed by Lieutenant G. W. Browne. The Mare Island band furnished music, and the marines fired a salute over the grave in the naval cemetery. Sailors from the Solace, Lawton, Wyoming and torpedo boats here attended. The dead sailor's mother was present during the impressive ceremonies.

WOMAN WHO TRIED TO PREVENT MATERNAL DEMONSTRATION IS FOUND GUILTY.

Mrs. Theresa McKay was found guilty this morning of disturbing the peace of her sister-in-law, Margaret O'Connell, by Police Judge Smith. The difficulty occurred over Mrs. O'Connell kissing her little son, which was temporarily in the custody of Mrs. McKay.

The mother and father of the boy were separated at the time and were suing each other for a divorce, which was subsequently not granted. By mutual agreement the father had possession of the boy while the mother retained a little daughter. The mother happened to meet her son at the corner of 12 and Haven streets. She stooped down to kiss the child when Mrs. McKay is alleged to have interrupted that act of affection by saying, "Don't kiss that woman, she is a low-down thing!" Judge Smith held the mother's peace had been disturbed and will pass sentence tomorrow.

A CHINESE REBELS ATTACK DUTCH PORT

SECOND EXPLOSION AT WORKS

People Are Terrified and Hurry From Scene--Spectators May Have Been Killed in Last Blast--Buildings Are Now Burning.

WEST BERKELEY, August 17.—

Later reports from the scene of this morning's explosion say that two more explosions have just occurred.

The first explosion was the second gelatine mixing house, containing but little explosive matter.

The second explosion was sixty tons of dynamite and destroyed everything in the vicinity.

FIRE RAGING.

The fire is raging among all the buildings, which will undoubtedly be destroyed, and further explosions are expected at any moment.

FIELDS ON FIRE.

The wheat fields in the vicinity are all on fire and a wind blowing off the bay is carrying the flames farther and farther inland.

MANY KILLED.

It is feared that many were killed as the result of this second explosion, as a crowd had collected on the scene examining the ruins.

GATES CLOSED.

Superintendent Frank Hayman has now ordered the gates closed and no outsiders will be permitted to enter.

HUGE CLOUD.

As the result of the second explosion the huge cloud of oxide of nitrogen is hanging over the works, extending up and down the bay shore for a distance of two miles.

It has been learned that the balance of the plant, other than the mixing and nitro-glycerine houses and the dynamite house, were not damaged, being situated about 400 yards away and on the other side of a slight hill.

Superintendent Hayman is doing all in his power to help the wounded and to make a thorough investigation into the cause of the second and third explosions.

GREAT HOLES.

Owing to the peculiar way in which dynamite explodes great holes were made in many parts of the company's grounds.

The death list resulting from the second and third explosions has not as yet been completed, but it is thought that nearly everybody was warned. However, there may have been a few foolhardy ones caught in the explosion.

Everything is now excitement and the people are terrified.

WILD SCENE.

At 3:30 this afternoon the scene was a wild one at and near the works. Everything appeared to be on fire and people were running in all directions.

CLOSE CALL.

Just before the second explosion this afternoon Reporters Sam Calmes and George Eby, who were reporting the explosion for the TRIBUNE, had a narrow escape.

They both came near being blown up in the discharge of their duty.

Mr. Calmes was telephoning the details to the TRIBUNE, having been the first newspaper man on the scene.

Suddenly he said: "For God's sake hurry up, a second explosion is just about to take place and I will be killed."

Eby was at his side, also sending in his details.

The San Francisco papers and the Associated Press were clamoring for details from the TRIBUNE.

Calmes would not leave until he had sent in his last detail.

Five minutes after he left the second explosion occurred.

CONGRESS MEETS IN NORTH

Important Matters Will Be Taken Up by Delegates.

PORTLAND, Ore., August 17.—The welcoming addresses to the Trans-Mississippi Congress which assembled in Portland today, developed the fact that there is not altogether harmony on the subject of Chinese restriction laws.

It became apparent during the address of Governor George E. Chamberlain, that the sentiment of Washington and Oregon is in favor of a strict application of the restriction laws as opposed to the more liberal applications favored by the California representatives and delegates from the Middle West.

The first session of the Congress was attended by representative men from all parts of the West. Following the call to order by Rufus F. Jennings, of San Francisco, chairman of the executive committee, divine invocation was delivered by Rev. W. J. Brougher of Cleveland.

Chairman Jennings introduced Theodore E. Wilcox, of Portland, president of the Congress, who delivered his opening address, welcoming the Congress on the work it has achieved in the past.

Governor Chamberlain said: "In welcoming the delegates in behalf of the State of Oregon, the Governor took occasion to compliment Congress on the work it has achieved in the past. Before the congress had been organized so great a lack of unity existed that legislation favorable to any one district of the West was almost impossible to obtain. Lack of unity has thus retarded the growth of the country. But for the very energy displayed by the organization of the Congress it is doubtful he said whether the reclamation of arid and semi-arid lands would not have been postponed even to this day."

Great as has been the achievements of the congress hitherto there was yet much work before it—much to achieve. Still more aggressive work is required to make reclamation of the arid lands a success, especially must the conflict between public and private interests be reconciled.

"There are other matters of great public interest, such as appropriations for the rivers and harbors and for the construction of canals as natural regulators for freight rates for commerce from the inland empire to the sea, that ought to be taken up and considered by the congress."

Concluding, the Governor asserted himself very strongly on the subject of Chinese exclusion laws and the Chinese boycott. This country must have a success, especially must the conflict between public and private interests be reconciled. He realizes that China threatens a boycott but he believes this boycott receives the encouragement of persons in this country who have personal interests to subvert and he suggests that much of the clamor for Chinese immigration came from those directly interested in exporting products to Chinese ports, a class which represents a small minority of the people of the coast.

JAPAN WANTS AN INDEMNITY

SAYS SHE MUST BE REIMBURSED FOR BLOOD AND MONEY.

TOKIO, Aug. 17.—The Nichi Nichi tomorrow will say: "The continuance of the conference is indicative of a hopeful prospect for the conclusion of peace. The paper declares that if the Russians had rejected absolutely the questions of reimbursement and the cession of Sakhalin Island, the Japanese would have withdrawn from the conference. These demands are as equally important as the Korean and Manchurian questions."

"Japan's victories have been realized by the vast sacrifice of money and blood without the prospect of Russia's compliance in the payment of war expenses, and the transfer of Sakhalin Island. There is no reason why the conference should be continued."

The Nichi Nichi expresses the belief that the Russian officials divulged the nature of the Japanese demands, and suggests that the Japanese delegates abandon the plan of secrecy and keep their people informed as to the progress of the conference.

GUESTS OF PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

OYSTER BAY, L. I., August 16.—President Roosevelt entertained at lunch today Baron Hengemuller, the Ambassador of Austro-Hungary; Senator Dryden, of New Jersey; James M. Beck, formerly an assistant Attorney General of the Department of Justice; Charles H. Keep, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, and Robert Bridges, the author and magazine writer.

Ambassador Hengemuller desired to take up with the President a matter concerning immigration which is pending between this country and Austro-Hungary. Senator Dryden and Mr. Beck are here to discuss insurance problems with the President. The former is president of the Prudential Insurance Company and the latter one of the attorneys of the Equitable Life Assurance Society. Assistant Secretary Keep, chairman of what is known as the Keep Commission, appointed by the President to inquire into the organization, personnel, system of accounts, methods of correspondence and purchases of supplies and other matters pertaining to the conduct of the Government departments at Washington, came to Oyster Bay to lay before the President the result of the commission's inquiry into the affairs of the Government printing office. The inquiry was a special reference to the letting of a contract for the purchase of seventy-two typesetting machines.

The investigation occupied many days, voluminous testimony being taken. The conclusions of the commissioner are contained in the report filed today by Commissioner Keep with the President.

OCEAN SHORE LONG TERM FOR POLICE SUSPECT FILES ARTICLES PRISONER MURDER

SAN FRANCISCO, August 17.—The Ocean Shore Railway Company filed amended articles of incorporation today with the County Clerk.

The petition states that the purpose for which the corporation is formed is to construct, build, equip and operate a railroad having one or more parallel main line tracks, that it shall engage in business as a common carrier, and have power to acquire, hold and possess all real estate needed for its right of way, and shall have power to propel its cars with either steam, electricity or other motive power allowed by law.

The route of the road intended to be run is as follows: Commencing at the shore line of the Bay of San Francisco, on the easterly side of Water-front street, 23 feet southerly from where said street would be intersected by the southerly line of Army street, it extended and thence by the most practicable and feasible route westerly and southwesterly to a point at or near Ocean View; thence in a southwesterly direction to Santa Cruz, to a point near the site of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company's wharf. Also a branch single or double track standard-gauge railroad commencing within what is known as the Richmond District, at a point where Eleventh avenue intersects Fulton street, crossing the westerly end of Golden Gate Park, intersecting the main line at some convenient point on the westerly side of a tract of land known as the Rancho Laguna del la Merced, and also connecting the last above described line by a like railroad commencing at the intersection of Eleventh avenue and C street; thence westerly along C street to where the same intersects the line last above mentioned on Twenty-third avenue; thence the estimated length of the road is 63 miles. There has actually been subscribed $1000 per mile for each mile of the contemplated railroad.

The capital stock is $3,000,000. Of the $25,000 subscribed the following directors have taken these amounts: Walter E. Brown, $8300; J. Downey Harvey, $8300; Charles C. Moore, $8300; Charles Carpy, $8300; Charles E. Green, $8300; Alfred D. Bowen, $8300, and Burke Corbett, $8300.

THEY TALKED OF CHILD LABOR

DETROIT, Aug. 17.—The enforcement of child labor legislation and the inspection of elevators were topics that occupied the time of the delegates today at the second day's session of the International Factory Inspectors' Association's annual convention. Owen Lovejoy, assistant secretary of the National Child Labor Committee, read a paper on the enforcement of child labor legislation.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 17.—Fay Buckle will be sentenced on Saturday to a long term of imprisonment in San Quentin in spite of the efforts made on her behalf by philanthropic persons anxious to bring about the young woman's reform. In court this morning Superior Judge Lawlor quashed the hopes of the woman's friends by announcing that it would be impossible for him to entertain an application for parole.

The prisoner was convicted on a charge of grand larceny for the theft of some clothing from Kate Decker. Judge Lawlor was loth to send the young woman to prison, so she was allowed her liberty on probation. For a few weeks she remained faithful to her promise, but in time she became restless under the restrictions and fled to Seattle, where she was arrested.

Upon her return she excused her conduct by making sensational charges against Mrs. Matilda Christ, the matron of the City Prison, under whose care she had been placed.

Judge Lawlor referred the charges against the matron to the Police Commissioners, but nothing came of them. In the meantime he has postponed passing sentence upon the woman in the hope that there might be some way to keep her from the penitentiary. But after considering the circumstances of her flight he has come to the conclusion that as an example the woman should be punished. On Saturday he will pronounce judgment.

The police have received a telegram from the Chief of Police of Seattle stating that the conduct of the woman while in Seattle was good.

SATISFIED WITH THE PROGRESS

PARIS, August 17.—Well informed circles here display optimism relative to the outcome of the peace conference and general satisfaction is being expressed with the progress already made.

NO WIND TO HOLD THE RACES

CHARLOTTE, N. Y., Aug. 17.—Today's yacht race between the Temaire and the Iniquity for the Canada cup was called off owing to the absence of wind. The boats started, but were becalmed a short distance from the starting line.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17.—The police have been searching in vain for the companion of Arthur Powell, who died under mysterious circumstances at a lodging house at 329 Minna street late last night. So far no trace of his movements has been found and as he left the house twenty-four hours before Powell's death there seems to be little hope of locating him.

Wine which is believed to have been mixed with carbolic acid was found in the room. This has been sent to the City Chemist for analysis and until his report is received the cause of Powell's death must remain undetermined. Dr. L. D. Bacigalupi performed an autopsy upon the body of Powell this morning, but was unable to discover any trace of the poison. The stomach was removed and has also been sent to the City Chemist.

WILL NOT GO ON THE THRONE

BERLIN, August 17.—The plan supported by Great Britain for Prince Charles of Denmark to ascend the Norwegian throne has failed according to information received here from Copenhagen. The expectation is that Norway will establish a republic.

HARRIMAN HAS SAILED.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 16.—E. H. Harriman, accompanied by six members of his family and the vice-president of the line, R. P. Schwerin, sailed today on the Siberia. It is understood that Manila is the final destination of the party, and that what is ostensibly a pleasure trip is in reality undertaken with the purpose of thoroughly investigating the possibilities of railroad construction in the Philippines under the recent act of Congress.

Better treatment for horses wounded in battle is being sought by the English Church Society for Promoting Kindness to Animals. At the present time horses are not protected by the Red Cross, but are treated as belligerents. Hence the English Society has approached all the signatories to the Geneva convention (1864), pointing out that the convention is deficient in its provision for the relief of the sufferings of wounded animals.

SUPERVISORS HAVE COMPLETED INVESTIGATION.

Matter Will Go Before the Grand Jury—Hasse and Attorney Woolner Make Explanations to the Board.

The inquiry made by the Board of Supervisors into the alleged irregularities in the matter of furnishing stationery to the county of Alameda, came to a close at a late hour yesterday evening.

No action was taken by the Board in the matter of allowing or cutting the claims against the county of the Central News Store, which aggregate about $4000. Action was deferred till Monday next.

It is estimated that the cut on the claims, recommended by County Examiner Sabin, after conference with the several county officials, who assert that they did not receive some of the articles charged, will amount to about $2000.

If the Board should sustain this recommendation, the Central News Store, which is owned by Mrs. Clabsey, will lose about $2000.

The session was marked by sharp examination of O. L. Hasse, ex-manager of the Central News Store, as regards the correctness of his bills for stationery furnished the county and the manner in which he kept his books, by Attorney Hynes and by Supervisor Rowe as regards Assessor Dalton's dealings with the Central News Store, as also of Attorney Ben Woolner regarding statements which he is alleged to have made in connection with the controversy between Supervisor Rowe and Assessor Dalton.

SUPERVISOR MITCHELL.

At the close of the inquiry, Supervisor Mitchell spoke as follows: "This investigation has been started for the reason that we might publicly settle upon these bills. There is no reason for this Board to recommend anything. The Grand Jury is going to take the matter up, and if they do, it leaves us nothing to do along that line, and the matter will be referred to the Committee of the Whole to take action as regards the cut of the bills."

When the TRIBUNE'S report of yesterday closed, O. L. Hasse was on the stand.

HASSE'S LEDGER.

Mr. Hynes showed the witness, in the bill of the Superintendent of Schools, an item of three gross of Estabrook pens, when only one gross was entered up in the ledger, and asking why there was such a difference, Hasse said that he would not say that the ledger was not made up out of the tags and Hasse replied that such was the case. Hynes then wanted to know why Hasse had made different entries on the bill and in the ledger.

Hasse replied that he wanted to have his bills to the county correct. Hynes asked if it were true that he was paying more attention to the county bills, which were subject to change by the Supervisors, than he was to having his books correct.

Attorney Burke advised Hasse not to answer the question. Mr. Hynes asked if the advice was given because an answer would tend to incriminate the witness. Mr. Burke said the advice was given on the ground that the question was not a proper one.

Mr. Hynes said he would take a ruling from the board on the question. Hasse, however, answered the question by stating that he was not more anxious to send correct bills to the county than he was to have his books correct.

Mr. Hynes showed that the ledger in the account of the Superintendent of Schools contained only two items on a certain day, whereas the bill contained half a dozen items. Witness said he could only explain the matter by saying that a customer came in to be waited on and witness gave up the posting in the ledger, and after waiting on the customer forgot to complete the posting.

HASSE CROSS-EXAMINED.

Mr. Hasse was cross-examined by Attorney Burke.

Burke—Did all the articles charged against the county since October of last year leave your store to be delivered to the county?

Hasse—No, sir.

Burke—Were any goods ever ordered and delivered, and later on, charged for other articles?

Hasse—No, sir.

Burke—Exchanged for other articles?

Hasse—Delivered to the county and then brought back and exchanged for other articles?

Hasse—Yes, sir.

Hasse—No, sir.

Burke—Were the items, then, as set forth in these several bills and marked exhibits 1—

Hynes—2, 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7.

Burke—Were they charged to the county? Are they correct as to date and quantity?

Hasse—To the best of my knowledge, yes.

Burke—Do these books show any articles charged to the Assessor's office or to Mr. Dalton personally?

Hasse—These books?

Burke—These leaves of your ledger. I call them a book, these ledger leaves?

Hasse—Those there, no.

NOT STATIONERY.

Burke—Didn't you keep an account or a book account of articles delivered other than to the county?

Hasse—I have a drawer cabinet for that, yes.

Burke—You kept no book account of that?

Hasse—That is the same as a book account—has the leaves in it.

Burke—You saw the article published in the Examiner of the 5th of August, did you not?

Hasse—Yes, sir. The 5th? I would not say the date.

Burke—I call your attention to the article published in the San Francisco Examiner, wherein it is charged that Mr. Dalton had received a desk.

Hynes—Dressing-table.

Rowe—Desk.

Woolner—Dressing-table.

Rowe—Was that charged on your books?

Hasse—That was charged to him personally.

Rowe—Was it charged on these books?

Hasse—I said all accounts of the store were charged on this drawer cabinet.

Rowe—Then you don't charge that on these books?

Hasse—No, I did not. This is the account books I had by themselves.

Rowe—Was it charged on the drawer cabinet you speak of?

Hasse—Yes, sir.

Rowe—Did Mr. Dalton pay you for that?

Hasse—Yes, sir.

Rowe—When?

Hasse—I could not say when. I can not remember things away back in November. I don't remember just when.

Rowe—He paid you personally for that?

Hasse—He paid me personally, yes.

Rowe—Explain what this dressing-table was.

Hasse—Well, I couldn't say what it was, because I have never seen it.

Rowe—You gave him the order to get it, and he got it, and you never saw it?

Hasse—I never saw it. He came to me and asked if he could go over and get a dressing table. He said, "Get me one over and have it sent to the Central News Store, and I can get a distal count off," and I said, "Way, certainly," the same as though Mr. Rowe or any one else asked me. I would do the same thing for them.

OTHER PURCHASES.

Rowe—Were there any other articles purchased by Mr. Dalton in the same way?

Hasse—There were a few articles, yes.

Rowe—Were they paid for when received, the same as this one?

Hasse—I couldn't say just when they were paid for—what date. I couldn't say that. He paid for them.

Rowe—He paid you personally.

Hasse—Yes, sir.

Rowe—You do not remember just when he paid you?

Hasse—No, I couldn't say.

Rowe—And you cannot enumerate the articles that were purchased by Mr. Dalton?

Hasse—No, I can not.

Rowe—But it was while you were in charge of the Central News Store?

Hasse—How is that?

Rowe—But it was while you were in charge of the Central News Store?

Hasse—That he got these articles?

Rowe—Yes, sir.

Rowe—When did you quit work for the Central News Store?

Hasse—I don't know just whether it was the 29th or 30th, I don't know which, or May.

Rowe—There is a charge made that Mr. Dalton received for his office, over here, a desk costing $22. Do you know anything about that?

Hasse—Twenty-two dollars, no, sir, I do not.

Rowe—You do not know anything about that?

Hasse—A twenty-two dollar desk?

Rowe—Yes, for his office.

Hasse—I cannot recall the item, No, I cannot.

Rowe—Here is one particular article I want to inquire about, because it might be county property. In the article I have shown you, in the article of August 5th, in The Examiner, it reads, purporting to come from an interview with Mr. Woolner: "I went over the stationery bills of the Assessor," said Woolner today, "and I persuaded myself that something was wrong. I then went to him and asked him to pay Mrs. Clabsey for the furniture that her money had bought in San Francisco and had gone to him on a threat that I would expose him. He promptly pulled out a check-book and settled with me." If that is true, then he, having paid you, paid for the furniture twice?

Hasse—If he has paid for it again, yes.

Rowe—You are positive that he paid you once?

Hasse—Yes, sir. I think Mr. Woolner had a denial of that, didn't he?

Rowe—Not as yet. In the article it reads: "Then there are bills made out by the Fuller Desk Company of San Francisco against the Central News Company, one for a roller-top desk for his home at 1454 Eighth street for $45. Do you remember that?"

Hasse—Well, I am pretty sure. Yes, there was a desk.

Rowe—He paid you for that?

Hasse—Yes.

Rowe—Do you remember whether he paid you cash or a check?

Hasse—He paid me in cash money.

Rowe—That was his own personal bill?

Hasse—Yes, sir.

Rowe—Another for a desk for his office, $22. Do you know anything about that?

Hasse—Mr. Rowe, I cannot speak according to the item. It is so far back I do not know.

Rowe—You cannot remember whether he had a desk for his office for $22—twenty-two dollar desk for the use of his office?

Hasse—No, I cannot say, because I don't know. I never saw the goods myself. He went over and picked them out himself.

Rowe—You do not remember giving him an order.

Hasse—How?

Rowe—You do not remember giving him an order to select the goods?

Hasse—He came in and asked me if he could go and pick something out. I said "yes," but what he would pick out I do not remember. I would give him an order to go and pick them out.

Rowe—You made a statement for Mr. Dalton, did you not publish in THE TRIBUNE of Monday, August 7th, the statement here (showing)?

Hasse—I did.

Rowe—You made that statement, and I have a question there, you have already answered that by saying it to you while you were—

Hasse—I answered that question.

Rowe—Who asked you for such a statement?

Hasse—I saw my attorney about it.

Rowe—I ask you asked you to give this statement for publication?

Hasse—I don't remember now. I guess Mr. Burke was the one who asked me to find out if such was the case or not.

Rowe—I will state right now how that happened, if you want me to.

Rowe—You may state.

Rowe—What date is that paper?

Rowe—August 7th.

Rowe—I will state in reference to that last question of Mr. Rowe's that Mr. Dalton asked me, as attorney for Mr. Hasse whether or not I would allow Mr. Hasse to make an affidavit that Dalton had never, to his knowledge, during the time Hasse was manager of the Central News Store, received any articles of whatsoever nature, from or through the store, that he did not pay for in full, and that all the accounts were fully settled.

As attorney for Mr. Hasse, would I permit him to make such an affidavit, provided the facts were true, and I said I would see Mr. Hasse and consult him about it. I consulted with Mr. Hasse, and asked him if such was the fact, and he said "yes," and I said, "I see no objection to your making a true affidavit along that line." I said, I did not see any objection to Mr. Hasse making that affidavit.

Rowe—Read the first article addressed to the Editor of the TRIBUNE.

Rowe—I will state further.

Rowe—that at the time I permitted Mr. Hasse, as attorney to make that affidavit, I had no idea or did not intend it as anything refuting what you had said, or what statement you had made in any controversy you had had with Mr. Dalton.

Rowe—In other words, you did not know or expect that it was to be used in connection with such a statement as Mr. Dalton makes in THE TRIBUNE?

PURPOSE OF STATEMENT.

Burke—No, I did not know he was to use it against you, or in connection with any controversy he had with you.

Rowe—That is the question I want to ask you. You did not give it, knowing it would be used in any connection like this?

Hasse—No, sir, I did not.

Burke—He don't know anything about that.

Rowe—Do you know anything about giving Mr. Dalton an order for a French plate glass mirror?

Hasse—I couldn't say whether I did or not. I wouldn't remember the item, I don't know.

Rowe—These articles, whatever they were, were not presented to Mr. Dalton, were not a present to Mr. Dalton from you were they?

Hasse—A present, no.

Rowe—He paid for them?

Hasse—Paid for them.

Rowe—Paid you for them? When did you go to work in Mr. Dalton's office?

Hasse—I never worked for Mr. Dalton in my life.

Rowe—I did not ask you that. I said in his office.

Hasse—June 5th, I think it was. The first Monday in June.

Rowe—When did you close your relations with the Central News Store?

Hasse—On about the 29th, I said, of May. I answered that a few minutes ago. I believe that is the date. I wouldn't say for sure in regard to it or not.

Rowe—How long did you continue to work in the office?

Hasse—From the 5th of June until the last of June.

Rowe—Who paid for that work?

Hasse—Mr. Miller.

Rowe—Did you pay the bills to the Fuller Desk Company for the articles purchased by Mr. Dalton?

Hasse—I don't know whether the Fuller Desk Company articles were paid then or not. I couldn't say. Some of them were and some were not, probably.

Rowe—Did Mr. Sabin call upon you to check up these bills with your books?

Hasse—Yes, sir.

Rowe—And when he called upon you, did you proceed to check up the bills?

Hasse—I came down, but did not have all the papers with me, and I made another engagement with Dr. Lillencranz, and I went out to see him that afternoon, and, of course, he ordered me home to bed.

Rowe—You did not go any further?

Hasse—No, I came back to the Central News Store and resigned my position, as I was not able to go on.

AS TO EXPERT SABIN.

Rowe—it was not Mr. Sabin's fault that the bills were not checked up and action taken before this time.

Hasse—How is that?

Rowe—I say then you wouldn't say that it was Mr. Sabin's fault that those bills were not checked up if presented to the Board before this time. He was waiting for you to check up the bills with him, was he not?

Hasse—After that, Mr. Woolner took charge of the proposition then. Took charge of the proposition the evening I resigned.

Burke—Mr. Rowe wants to know if it was any fault of Mr. Sabin.

Hasse—Not to my knowledge.

Rowe—He called upon you and did everything in his power to check up the bills?

Hasse—Yes.

Rowe—Isn't it a fact Mr. Sabin called upon you several times, either by phone or personally, to come down and explain these bills?

Hasse—No, sir, it is not. He called upon me one morning to come down, and I said I could not be down until the afternoon, as I had no boy there to receive him, and I was all alone.

Rowe—When you were given employment in the Assessor's office, did Mr. Dalton request Mr. Miller to give you employment?

Hasse—No, sir. In fact, I do not know Mr. Dalton. I was there. I probably was there four or five days before he ever saw me.

Rowe—You never requested Mr. Dalton to speak to Mr. Miller for you?

Hasse—No, sir, I did not.

Rowe—And from your knowledge of the transactions, you will swear and do swear now that all of the goods charged on these bills are delivered.

Hasse—They were sent out by the Central News Store to the county of Alameda, yes, sir.

Rowe—Will you say that they were delivered?

Hasse—How is that?

Rowe—Were they delivered to the public buildings, yes.

Hasse—Yes, sir.

Rowe—You know that personally?

Hasse—They left the store with that intention.

BURKE ASKS QUESTIONS.

Burke—in answer to Mr. Rowe's question that there were no articles delivered to any officer of the county of Alameda which were not charged for in your bill, I will call your attention to the fact that the County Recorder's memorandum book of orders shows a few small articles like document-covers, which were received from your store and which were not charged for in your bill to the county for the Recorder's office. Is that so?

Hasse—That is what they stated here on this book that they brought up yesterday.

Burke—Would it be possible that such a thing would happen?

Hasse—Yes, sir, that such a thing would happen.

Burke—it would be an error on your part for not charging up those items?

Hasse—Yes, sir.

Burke—For which your store was the loser?

Hasse—My store was the loser, yes.

Burke—The orders you gave to Mr. Dalton personally to go to the wholesalers in San Francisco to get certain articles, were they ever any specific articles, or general orders to get merchandise?

Hasse—To get whatever he chose to pick out.

Burke—You did not know when you gave him an order what he was going to buy?

Hasse—I did not know.

Burke—Did you resign your position in the Central News Store as manager thereof on the advice of your physician?

Hasse—I did.

Burke—that is all.

B. F. WOOLNER.

Ben F. Woolner was called, sworn and testified as follows:

Q—Was it to make a statement in justice to Mr. Dalton and Mr. Rowe, both of whom I understand are being arraigned with by Manager Coffroth, to this effect: That at the time I presented a bill to Mr. Dalton for furniture, which I found among the bills of the Central News Store, Mr. Dalton said that he had leveled the bill to be paid and asked me to call again, that he would look the matter up. I called the next day and he gave me a check for $170. I want to say merely in justice to him that there were no threats of exposure of any kind made by me at the time. I want to say further that when the statements of Mrs. Clabsey and myself were given to Mr. Dalton, they were given without any knowledge on the part of Mrs. Clabsey and myself of any charges that had been made by Mr. Rowe, as Supervisor, against Mr. Dalton.

Q—They have the statements made in THE TRIBUNE issue of August 7; your statement is there.

Woolner—That portion of the statement referring to Mr. Rowe was made without my knowledge, and I know without the knowledge of Mrs. Clabsey.

Q—You know that personally? How do you know that?

Woolner—Because the statements were given merely as a matter of simple justice, and we knew nothing about any charges made by you against Mr. Dalton.

Q—You supposed it was to be used as a matter of simple justice, but not against one of the Supervisors?

Woolner—I did not know it was to be used against anybody.

Q—In that you say you have examined the books in this article, you say you have carefully examined the books, etc. Do you know of any other books besides the ones presented here by you today connected with the Central News Store?

AFFAIRS OF THE STORE.

Woolner—I might say in answer to that that the affairs of the book store were, in my judgment, in a very demoralized condition. There were no regular books or accounts, evidently, and I was unable to work except by running through the old bills to find what was owing from the store, and what the store was owing over $4000 to the wholesalers in San Francisco and that there were collectible accounts amounting to $4000.

REMARKABLE DECREASE IN COUNTRY'S BIRTH RATE

Roosevelt's Fear of Race Suicide is Well Founded, According to Statistics.

WASHINGTON, August 17.—"That in each successive decade, there has been a persistent decline of the birth rate in the United States since 1860" is the conclusion reached in a bulletin issued by the Census Bureau. The bulletin was prepared by Professor Walter P. Wilcox of Cornell University, and it is explained that an analysis made offers many suggestions as to the probable tendencies in the birth rate of the United States is primarily, not a study in birth rates, but a study in the proportion of children to the total population or total number of women of child-bearing age.

The result of the study shows that at the beginning of the nineteenth century the children under ten years of age constituted one-third, and at the end less than one-fourth of the total population. The decrease in this proportion began as early as the decade 1810 to 1820, and continued uninterruptedly, though at varying rates, distinct of the natives. But Prof. Wilcox does not express a definite opinion, claiming that the vital statistics of the country are not sufficiently developed to afford a sound basis of judgment. He notes, however, that there has been a similar marked decline in the birth rate of Australia, when there has been no such torrent of immigration.

Considered, sectionally, it is found that in the North and West there has been a more or less regular decline, while in the South the change has been less regular and the decline less marked. In 1860 the proportion of children to 1000 women in the North and West was five-sixths, of what it was in the South; in 1900 it was less than three-fourths. In 1900 the smallest proportion of children was in the District of Columbia, where the number of children under five was hardly more than one-fourth the number of women of child-bearing age. The next smallest proportion was in Massachusetts, where it was slightly more than one-third. The largest proportion was in North Dakota and Indian Territory, in each of which it was two-thirds.

In the general decrease between 1860 and 1900 not a single State of the North Atlantic division took part. In seven other States also there was no decrease. In only six States, Maryland, Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, Kentucky and Indiana, did the proportion decrease, and in only Delaware, the District of Columbia, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Oregon and Colorado did it follow the tendency of the country as a whole—that is, increase from 1860 to 1880 and decrease in the four succeeding decades.

In 1900, for the United States as a whole, the proportion of children was only two-thirds as great in cities as in the country districts. In the North Atlantic District, however, it was almost as great in the cities as in the country. In the Southern division it is hardly more than half as large in the cities as in the country, while in the far West the difference is intermediate in amount.

"This," it is explained, "is probably due in large measure, to the fact that the immigrant population who have been swarming into the Northern cities of recent years, especially into the cities of the North Atlantic States, have been multiplying by numerous births, with much rapidity, while the corresponding laboring class which has been immigrated to Southern cities from the surrounding country districts has not been thus increasing."

A comparison is made between the proportion of children born of native mothers to 1000 native women of child-bearing age and the proportion of children born to foreign mothers to 1000 foreign-born women of child-bearing age. In 1900 the former proportion was 462, the latter 710, the difference indicating the great fecundity of foreign-born women. The bulletin continues:

"The comparison also indicates that the total decrease in fecundity of white women between 1860 and 1900 was the result of a decrease for native white women, partly offset by an increase for foreign-born white women."

"In the Atlantic divisions, however, there was a slight increase in the proportion of children born to native white mothers and in the south central division there was but a slight decrease. The decrease of the whole country, therefore, was the result very largely of the great decrease in the north central and western divisions."

"The decrease in the proportion of children born to native white women was confined chiefly to the cities." The proportion of negro children to negro women 15 to 49 years old was largest in 1880 and smallest in 1900. There has been uniformly a larger proportion of negro children than of white children. That difference more than doubled between 1860 and 1880, but in 1900 it was less than half what it was in 1880 and less than at any other census except 1880. Though the negroes have a larger proportion of children than the whites, it has been noticed that the whites of the South have a larger proportion than the whites in other sections of the country.

STRIKING AGAINST A BRIDGE COMPANY

NEW YORK, August 17.—In accordance with the orders of the general executive board of the International Association of Structural Ironworkers for a national strike against the American Bridge Company, several strikes were called yesterday on the company's contracts in this city.

Secretary Green of the local union declared that the strike will continue to spread all over the country until a settlement is reached.

UNMARRIED DAUGHTER WINS CASE

Because She Lacks a Husband She Gets Property.

The final decision in the peculiar will of Mrs. Emilie Alexander, who died June 5, 1904, was filed yesterday, making Miss Gusie Alexander sole heir to her mother's estate.

The will stated that if Miss Gusie remained unmarried this disposition of the property should be made, but in event of her marriage she should have one house by deed, located on Telegraph avenue, and the remainder of the property should go to the other four children of the deceased, Henry Alexander, Susie Alexander, George Alexander and Mrs. E. M. Rosenthal.

When the will went to probate Henry Alexander was admitted and tried to have the will construed for partial distribution.

The attorneys for Miss Gusie Alexander contended that the entire property should belong to her as she was unmarried at the death of the testator. Otherwise, construed, she could only hold it while she remained unmarried, and in that case would be restrained from marriage and would be void. The matter was submitted to Judge Ogden on briefs and at that time the Court expressed the opinion that Miss Gusie Alexander would receive the property, but not absolute; that in case of her marriage it would revert to the other children. At the final distribution the heirs wanted to have it declared that she would only have a life interest, but Judge Ogden decided that Miss Gusie Alexander would be entitled to the entire property in fee simple absolute, and the Court ordered that she be provided for the daughter unmarried at the time of her death. Max Marcuse was attorney for Miss Alexander.

MARINE GUARD IS DOUBLED

SHOOTING OF RUFIAN LEADS TO FEUD AT BROOKLYN
NAVY YARD.

NEW YORK, August 17.—The guard of marines at the gate of the Brooklyn Navy Yard has been nearly doubled this week on account of the feud existing between the marines and a gang of roughs in the neighborhood.

The feud dates back to the night of February 1 last, when Private Lawrence Milton, who was on sentry duty, shot and killed a man who was attempting to steal property from the yard. The man was a member of a gang that frequents low saloons in the vicinity of the gates, and his comrades recently have attempted to make good their threats of revenge by attacking the marines whenever they appeared alone outside the gates.

LAWYER ANGERS WOMAN

Mrs. Sarah Bump Tells of Late Husband's Infirmities.

Mrs. Sarah L. Bump is on the witness stand in the trial of the contest brought by her against her four step-daughters in an effort to have the will of her late husband, whereby he left them an estate of $65,000 and practically disinherited her set aside. Her direct examination was concluded yesterday when she told of how Bump had an apoplectic stroke while living on his ranch on Meritt Island in the Sacramento River, in 1896, from which he had never recovered, but gradually grew weaker and successive strokes, finally rendered him helpless and finally caused his death in 1900.

This morning Attorney R. H. Countryman took the witness in hand for cross-examination and by his manner of questioning and the infusion of his voice soon had his witness bristling and obstinate. She absolutely refused to estimate the distance of the Sacramento River at the point where they lived and although he endeavored in every way to get her by means of comparing the width of a city block with the width at that point, she would not budge from the witness stand. She said she did not know whether it was a hundred yards or five miles she gave the same answer and he finally had to take a different tack. He then went after an incident in which she had stated that some time after having suffered the stroke Bump was getting out of his boat one day and as he got out on to the bank of the river he fell down. She said that she is not allowed to state what it was. She had stated in regard to the falling of her husband that it was the result of his illness and Countryman was questioning her as to how she could tell. Trying to make it appear from the answers she had to make to his questions that he might have "stumbled." Finally however she blurted out that he had told her that he was suddenly taken with dizziness and fell and then he got an answer that he did not want. The Court however heard the explanation but allowed it to be ruled out on motion of counsel, as it came within the rule of a communication.

The subject of their move to Oakland where they finally bought a place out on Chester street was taken up and Countryman wants to know how, if he was disabled, he could buy property. Mrs. Bump stated that she had come to Oakland with him and did the talking, and to this Countryman said, "I agree with you."

She said that they had tried to go about and look at places themselves but that he could not walk and finally got very violent, but she was not allowed to tell as she stated that she knew this by the language he used.

testimony which was to the effect that for three years prior to the making out of his will Bump was practically helpless and was in no condition mentally to make a will or express his sane mind upon such a subject.

ON THE BANKS OF THE EEL

STATE COMMISSIONER OF HIGH-WAYS TO LOOK AFTER WORK.

EUREKA, Cal., August 17.—State Commissioner of Highways N. Ellery has arrived here in connection with the work of building jetties and rip rapping the banks of Eel river. The bids for the work received at Sacramento were rejected, as they far exceeded the appropriation. New tenders are now invited and will be opened next Monday evening at 6 o'clock. Commissioner Ellery said that in the event of the acceptance of any of the bids offered the work will immediately commence and be prosecuted with all possible haste so that the banks of the river will be fortified to withstand the ravages of high water.

The contract, however, will be so worded that if necessary an extension of time will be granted. The new bids will be on the unit plan, but an important change has been made in the specifications which will appreciably decrease the cost of the work. Concrete blocks have been substituted for rock filling, thus obviating the necessity of constructing a railroad to haul in the rock. The figures submitted will be on the basis of the State furnishing the cement, which will amount to some $600 barrels. In this way concrete blocks will prove cheaper than stone. The works contemplated will cost about $40,000.

The Folsom Postmastership.

Folsom is a small town in Sacramento county with a post-office of rather insignificant emolument, yet there is a struggle as to who shall be postmaster that is worthy of outside attention, for the reason that the State prison is located only a mile and a half from the village. This fact has not a little to do with the question of who shall be postmaster.

The rival aspirants are R. D. McFarland, editor of the Folsom Telegraph, and R. J. Murphy, formerly Captain of the Guard at Folsom prison but now turnkey at San Quentin. McFarland is a bright young man, who has upon his shoulders the support of a widowed mother and her younger children. His father was a well-known newspaper man. He would manage the postoffice with an eye single to the proper discharge of his duties.

Murphy is a man of good character and habits, who has spent nearly a quarter of a century of his life holding various positions at the State prison. He had the reputation of being a brave and faithful officer till his courage and discretion were brought into question by the outbreak of prisoners nearly three years ago, in which one guard lost his life and two others were terribly wounded. In the last attempted break, which was foiled and cost the riotous convicts dear, Murphy failed to retrieve his reputation and was shortly after summarily dismissed by Warden Yell. Since that time Murphy and his friends have entertained a bitter grudge against Warden Yell.

This is the fact that gives outside interest to Murphy's efforts to get the Folsom postoffice. Should he get the coveted position he would be a thorn in the side of the prison management. He has a talent for intrigue, which would be spurred into activity by hatred of the warden, and which would derive a malign potency from his intimate knowledge of prison affairs. He has been for many years perniciously active in politics, and has striven persistently to control local politics in the interest of himself and his friends. He essayed to boss the school board and the selection of delegates to political conventions, which he regularly attended. While comparatively illiterate he is shrewd and intelligent, and as before stated, has a dangerous gift for intrigue.

Trouble at Folsom prison would be sure to follow his appointment as postmaster. He would lose no opportunity to make the warden uncomfortable and get his subordinates at sixes and sevens. The prison management would have a resourceful enemy at its very threshold, nerved by hate, ever on the alert to put it in bad odor and to break down the morale of prison discipline. The effect on subordinates and convicts could not fail to be deleterious.

As regards Mr. Murphy and Warden Yell personally the public cannot be expected to take an interest. But the State at large has a deep interest in the safe-guarding of the convicts at Folsom. It is of the gravest importance that the authority of the warden should not be undermined or the efficiency of the discipline be destroyed by political intrigues and machinations dictated by a spirit of revenge.

Mr. Yell has made a good warden. He restored strict discipline after the prison force had become demoralized and the convicts, made mutinous by bickerings, favoritism and incompetence. He frustrated breaks by prompt vigilance and quelled disorder with a firm hand. He has enforced obedience in manner that has earned for him the respect of the entire State. His management has been universally commended for efficiency and freedom from small politics.

Warden Yell's good work should not be imperiled by making his enemy postmaster at Folsom. It is a matter of public concern that he should not be harassed in his management of a public institution at all times taxing the wisdom, vigilance and nerve of those in charge. The postmaster is a Federal official while the warden is a State officer, but none the less public policy dictates that the Federal service should not be made the vantage ground of attack on the management of a State institution so charged with the dynamics of danger as Folsom prison.

Murphy has a good position at San Quentin—let him stay there. His presence at Folsom will be a source of constant irritation inimical to good order. His desire to get back there as the holder of a paltry office argues a questionable motive, under the circumstances. No matter how strongly backed by professional politicians, Congressman McKinlay should decline to recommend him for the Folsom postoffice, particularly as his rival aspirant is better fitted for the place and can be relied on to refrain from meddling with the affairs of the prison. He should take into account the fact that Folsom prison concerns every citizen of California, while the postoffice is a trifling local institution. He should put the security and good order of its nine hundred criminal inmates above the personal desires and revenges of a discharged employee, who would gratify his spite at the expense of nobody knows how many lives.

A Specious Plea for Lawbreaking

The Enquirer makes an extraordinary plea for bicycle riding on the sidewalks—extraordinary because it completely ignores and dismisses from consideration the great central fact on which the whole controversy impinges that the sidewalks are set aside and dedicated by both law and custom to the exclusive use of pedestrians. Also because it ignores the glaring and important fact that the conditions on which riding bicycles on the sidewalks has hitherto been permitted are openly, continuously and defiantly violated. If the author of that article had been honest with his readers he would have stated his case thus: "The pedestrians are hanged! I've a bicycle and I want to ride it on the sidewalks." Accidents do result from riding bicycles on the sidewalks, admits our contemporary, but he sapiently adds, "it is equally true that accidents occur through the use of the public thoroughfares by electric cars, by automobiles and other motor vehicles." This is equivalent to saying that a certain class of vehicles should be permitted to invade the rights and endanger pedestrians on the sidewalks because accidents sometimes result from the use of other vehicles on the roadways set apart for them. An unjust and unlawful privilege dangerous in character should be continued, although accidents, injuries and general inconvenience result, even though those who enjoy it to the discomfort and peril of others habitually violate the terms on which it is granted, and contemptuously insult the law and the pedestrians whose rights they abuse. The Enquirer pleads that Oakland shall retain the distinguishing mark of a "Jay" town, for the use of bicycles on the sidewalks is a leading characteristic of village life. It insults common sense when it says forbidding the sidewalks to bicycles will be a hardship to any class in the community. What are the streets for? What do bicyclers do in San Francisco and other cities which punish wheeling on the sidewalks as a misdemeanor? Only a small number object to bicycle riding on the sidewalks, says the Enquirer, as its editor runs down a person so abandoned as to walk. Did he ever count them? At least two-thirds of the inhabitants of this city warmly second Mayor Mott's views. Does the esteemed Enquirer think bicycles should be permitted on the sidewalks perpetually or only for a limited term? If not perpetually, why not? If for a limited term, how long? And why? If their use on the sidewalks should ever be forbidden, why not now?

On Cheap Buying and Dear Selling.

Secretary Shaw told the Virginians a fundamental truth in his Roanoke speech when he said, "You cannot sell high and buy cheap." Democratic policy has concerned itself with providing a cheap market in which to buy, oblivious of the fact that if you make your own market a cheap one for foreigners to sell in you also make it a cheap one to sell in yourself. By protecting our home market we have created a host of industries employing a vast army of artisans and these in turn have created a large and profitable domestic market for the products of the field and farm. Now if we had clung to the policy of making our home market a cheap one to buy in, labor and products would still be selling at low prices while the bulk of our manufactured goods would be coming from abroad. Our country would not be dotted with huge industrial plants, and we would not be sending manufactures to every part of the globe. We have taken the lead in industrialism because we have recognized the wisdom of buying high that we might sell high—the extra price we pay for merchandise largely going to the support of the government and the remainder going to the added profit of labor and capital employed in home industry. The point is, that neither the foreign laborer nor the foreign manufacturer gets the addition to the price when we buy in a dear market, and they are both to a large extent fenced out of a market in which our own citizens enjoy the benefits of a reciprocal monopoly. The United States is the greatest cotton manufacturing country in the world today because protection has enabled American labor and capital to build up a spinning industry capable of competing with the long established cotton milling industry of Great Britain. We handicapped the other fellow till we could compete with him on fairly equal terms.

Some of our contemporaries have revived for discussion General Sherman's remark that war is hell. There is none to dispute the proposition. Even the Czar of Russia is prepared to admit it and pay a big price for dreaming that it is anything else. Why moralize over an obvious and admitted fact?

Charles H. Prisk is making an excellent paper of the Pasadena Star, which he purchased some time ago. He has recently added a new twelve-page press to the Star's equipment, and has greatly improved the paper's news service. Mr. Prisk is a Grass Valley boy, who has gone down South and is showing the Angelenos a few things about running a good newspaper.

Governor Hoch of Kansas calls District Attorney Jerome of New York a "joke." A good many Gothamites have found him the most serious joke they ever tackled. To them he is anything but a laughing matter.

The Democratic party seems to be relegating itself to the position of a verminiform appendix, politically speaking. It is often a nuisance, sometimes dangerous, and serves no useful purpose.

Governor Folk only drinks whisky straight. No wonder the beer brewers of St. Louis are down on him.

Nan Patterson is reported to have a Duluth man on her string. The high life experts are now waiting to see whether the police or an undertaker finally gets him.

The Nevada City Miner-Transcript is respectfully informed that the French quarter of Virginia City in the bonanza days was on D street, not C. The editor of that mercurial sheet seems to be as badly mixed in his ideas of locality as he is concerning the language in which he expresses them. But perhaps he only visited that classic locality after the dew was on the rye.

A Chicago policeman murdered a man for accusing him of stealing. There would be quite a slaughter in Oakland if his example were followed here.

OUT OF THE NIGHT.

As from a vapor silver ships emerge
And fall to anchor in the realm of sight,
So in the languid dawn upon the verge
Of conscious morning from the far-off
night,
Come drifting dreams that of a substance seem,
Although below the dream we know we dream.

Slow are the heavy limbs to feel the day,
Slow answer drowsy eyelids to the morn;
The will is child-eyed to those visions
gray
Of sails long-traveled and of cordage worn;
Gazes acceptant, wondering not, and then
Dilates, with wonder at the long-dead men.
For strange mariners from sunburned
lands,
These friendly faces, leaning o'er the rail,
Who smile from living eyes, wave-loving hands;
With old, familiar, long-lost voices hail—
No strangers, yet from somewhere sounds
the dread:
"Remember and remember, they are dead!"

INTERESTING BITS.

There is still in use among the Moors a curious apparatus for making fire. The apparatus consists of a bamboo stick, a bit of china and tinder. The whole, connected with cords, is worn at the belt of the owner. When he wants a fire the native takes the bamboo firmly in the left hand and in his right hand holds the bit of china by the finger and thumb, and on the thumb side he pinches a bit of tinder. The edge of the china is then struck sharply down and along the bamboo. A bit of the bamboo is scraped off, not much, because the wood is hard, and the outside has quite a glaze, but enough to be made incandescent by the stroke, producing a bright and long spark. The tinder catches this spark and flame is the result. Very little practice is required to enable even a novice to light a fire by this means.

A recent discussion of certain postal grievances in the British House of Commons has recalled the history of the post. Posts are mentioned in Scripture in Job 3:25. It is written: "My days are swifter than a post," and again in the Book of Esther, chapter 8, letters were sent "by posts on horseback." The word, of course, here means runner. Cyrrus has been ascribed the establishment of systematic couriers, and post horses throughout Persia, and Augustus is credited with introducing post chaises at Rome. It was in the reign of James I that a postal system was introduced into England.

Whenever the temperature reaches a certain point in Switzerland the schools are dismissed. This is on the theory that after a certain degree of suffering has been reached by both teachers and pupils, the one cannot impart nor the other absorb instruction that would be of any value, and so the time spent in attempting it is wasted.

A patient observer on one of the main roads near London counted the vehicles passing to and from the metropolis between 9 o'clock in the morning and 9 at night. The results were: Bicycles, 4,577; motor cars, 587; electric street cars, 407; horse vehicles, 209; total, 5,780. According to these figures the horse is rapidly being outnumbered.

SWEET VOICED CANARY COMPANION OF RODENT

NEW YORK, August 17.—It was truly a tragedy, and all the inmates of the house mourned as if one of their own members had been taken away. A great yellow cat, with green, saucer-like eyes, crept stealthily along the window sill of the room where Miss Flora McKenzie, in 317 East Onondaga street, allowed her two pet canary birds to roam at will, and with the cunning and hypnotic influence that a cat exerts over unsuspecting little birds, the yellow rascal reached out his furry claws and—Jimmy was no more.

Don, his little side partner, looked on with a glitter in his beady black eyes and fluffed up his feathers like a powder puff, awaiting the moment when he, song, feathers and all, would go the way of Jimmy when—the door opened and his mistress appeared and saved him from his horrible feline fate.

That was three weeks ago, and for days the household felt the sorrow of the tragedy and mourned the cheery canary ever appreciate what that solitary little bird suffered at the loss of his companion, but even the most unselfish little songster's loss. Perhaps no ornamental member of the household, the Polack maid, noticed how he dropped. For days he scarcely picked at his seeds; a crisp leaf of lettuce had no joys for him; a ripe berry would not tempt him, and Miss McKenzie felt that his days were numbered and that the time would soon come when Don would pine away and die of loneliness.

His cage door was left open as before and the little fellow was allowed the freedom of the big, sunny room. For several days Miss McKenzie was puzzled to find that the bird spent most of his time on the floor under the dresser and the sofa. He became more cheery and would sing sweetly—just as sweetly down under the dresser as he had ever sung perched up in the open window in the sunlight. A change had surely come over the little songster. "He has forgotten Jimmy and he is no longer lonesome," Miss McKenzie thought.

But the secret of his happiness was discovered a few days ago when, seated by the window reading, Miss McKenzie saw a tiny mouse playing about under the dresser, and what was her surprise to see the bird pecking at him and the mouse rolling over and over as if in the greatest glee. The two ran and tumbled about as if they had been brought up in the same nest.

Calling in her sister, they both watched the mouse and bird playing, and when the frolic was over mouse ran into a little hole under the baseboard and the canary flew up to his cage and helped himself generously to food.

The same thing has occurred each day since, but the periods of play time have become longer, until the bird and mouse spent almost the entire day hopping and running about between the sofa and the dresser, and last evening hospitality had reached that stage of intimacy where Don, the Hertz mountain roller, had invited mouse to have supper with him, for when Miss McKenzie stepped into the room she found them both eating seed in the bird cage.

The companionship is a rare one, and the only satisfactory explanation that has been arrived at is that a cat, be his color yellow, gray or black, is a common foe to mice and birds, hence the alliance for mutual protection and condolence.

GIRLS REFUSE TO SHOW THEIR SUMMER HOSIERY

There came near being a riot at the first chorus rehearsal of Joe Weber's new company at the Music Hall. Mr. Weber came down from the Thousand Islands to watch the work of the chorus. Maurice Levy ran up from Atlantic City to do his share of the work, and Sam Marion was on hand to put the girls through their dancing steps.

Almost at the beginning of the dancing rehearsal the trouble began. The girls formed in line as directed with perfect willingness, and then, as there are some new girls in the chorus, Mr. Marion gave orders to lift the skirts just above the shoe tops so that he could see the movement of their feet.

All but three of the girls lifted their skirts at once. The exact number of inches is immaterial. The recalcitrant three kept theirs on the floor, and began to blush. The girls were Bonnie Hoyt, May Carlisle and Bessie Scott. "I said for all to lift their skirts!" shouted Mr. Marion.

"Now, then, One! Two! Three! One! Two! Three!"

It was three indeed, and the same three, for although every other girl in line had followed instructions, these had once more balked.

"What's the matter with you three, can't you understand English?"

"Yes, sir," said Miss Hoyt.

"Why don't you do as you're told, then?"

"Please, Mr. Marion, we didn't know we were going to dance or we'd have brought practice things," ventured Miss Carlisle.

"Well, we're only going through a few steps, so it won't matter. Now, then, all together," began the stage director.

Again the three refused to show even their shoes.

"Now, that will be about all!" cried Mr. Marion. "You girls will have to get out; you can't start the season in this way."

Just then Mr. Weber came on the stage and Bonnie Hoyt whispered excitedly to him for a few minutes. Then Weber began to laugh.

"It's all right, Marion, just excuse those three girls for today; it will be all right tomorrow," he said finally, when he had recovered from a second fit of laughter.

Marion not unnaturally demanded an explanation after the rehearsal, and he got it.

"Sure," said Weber, "they are wearin' short socks, like the boys, only shorter, and didn't dare lift their skirts. Most all the girls are wearing them this summer."

"How do you—" began Mr. Marion. Weber started for a train.

WOMEN SHOULD SMILE AND SEEK CONTENTMENT

Women who would retain their husband's love and who would find absolute contentment in their own homes should remember that every smile is an asset.

It is known that fortune herself is more easily won by a smile than a frown. Let all approach her with a laugh and an infallible belief in the eventual working of all things together for good, and her favor will be won far more often than those who seek her with a frown and abuse her for a hard-hearted jade. It really is all a matter of habit. If we make it a practice to look on the bright side of things and are quite blind to the black side, we find it easy to have a cheerful or peaceful expression. All we want is a little self-training and mental enlightenment when we are afflicted with depression.

It is just as easy to face the world and its people with a smile as with a frown. By smiles no complacent and no perpetual simper need be meant, but a face with eyes which seem to have caught the reflection of the sun and held some of its beam within themselves. All that happens becomes valuable and helpful to us when we regard pleasures and pains as lessons in the great university of experience. And this attitude in itself suffices to bring tranquility to the mind and peaceful light to the eyes, says an exchange.

They who are warned in time are wise and prudent. Overwork would be of little consequence if it did not bring overfatiguing in its train. The healthy, tired body and brain are rested and renewed by refreshing sleep, and the muscles spring back to their duty with blithe alacrity and the new task is taken up with enthusiasm. Sleep does not come readily to the overworked person who is worn down to the ragged, quivering edge of the nerves, and when it does come it is the sleep of exhaustion. The overworked person tries to spur nature by a dogged resolution, a determination to keep on, till she dies or has a long illness, which in some cases is Nature's kind restorative. The rest which cannot be taken or will not be taken by the woman on whose shoulders heavy burdens are bound, in whose hands are many duties, is taken perforce, when she falls a victim to some malady which makes her a prisoner.

The cheery woman finds that she can be a comfort to others and do good service in various helpful ways, social, personal and charitable. Mothers soon learn that she is one of their faithful aids. Little children love her, as she enters their amusements and sympathizes with their small griefs. Young men and maidens confide their petty secrets to her discretion and older people enjoy the delicate attentions she delights to bestow.

EVENTS IN LOCAL SOCIETY

ENTERTAINS AT PRETTY LUNCHEON

MISS STRONG IS HOSTESS AT FAIR FOR MISS GARTHWAITE.

Miss George Strong entertained at luncheon today for Miss Helen Garthwaite, when the formal announcement was made of the engagement of the charming guest of honor to Arthur Tashira of Linda Vista.

The wedding date was also announced and the friends of the young people will be surprised to learn that the ceremony will take place on September 9. This marriage will be the culmination of a romance begun when Miss Garthwaite and Mr. Tashira, were children. They were devoted to each other, but going to college in the East separated the two and a few years afterward they met again in Europe and renewed the old friendship which has grown into the present romance.

The luncheon today in Miss Garthwaite's honor was an elaborate affair and the decorations, entirely in red, were very artistic. Instead of the conventional floral center piece there were rich fruits, and one place cards were dainty water colors bearing the menu in clever verse.

Covers were laid for Miss Garthwaite, Mrs. Montell Taylor, Mrs. Walter Starr, Miss Bessie Palmer, Miss Ethel Valentine, Mrs. John Valentine, Mrs. Irving Lundborg and Miss Strong.

CHURCH WEDDING.

The marriage of Miss Eleanor F. MacNell, formerly of this city, and A. G. Smith of San Jose was solemnized the last day of July at the Episcopal Church in San Jose. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. MacNell of Jacksonville, Fla., and it was while visiting her uncle, Captain John Farrell of Webster street, that she met Mr. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith are enjoying a honeymoon trip in the South.

P. L. P. CLUB.

Among the announcements of renewed activity, among the clubs, the Palette, Lyre and Pen Club has come forward with the news that the season will be opened with an art exhibit and a reception Friday evening, September 1, to Theodore Wores.

Mr. Wores has just returned from Santa Barbara with a number of interesting sketches of that historic town, and the exhibit will include, besides these gems, a few Hawaiian and Spanish paintings.

The exhibit will be open to the public Saturday, September 2, and will continue for a week.

ENTERTAINS FRIENDS.

Mrs. J. Clem Arnold entertained a number of friends yesterday afternoon at her home, 2325 Ward street, Berkeley, in compliment to her sister, Miss Clara Cook of Southern California. The house was prettily decorated with sweet peas, ferns and carnations, and after an hour spent in music and chat, a luncheon was served.

Those present were Mrs. Frank L. Naylor, Miss Joy Johnson, Miss Nina Munro, Mrs. John Jessup, Mrs. Nell Squires, Miss Loretta Munro, Miss Grace Parrish, Mrs. Elmer Cole, Mrs. Joseph Peel, Miss Pearl Watkins, Miss Jessie Munro, Miss Hattie Watkins, and others.

HUGHES CLUB.

The Hughes Club will give a concert in the near future, and Llewellyn Hughes, the young violinist who has just returned from Europe, will be one of the soloists. Mrs. Margaret Davis Hughes has resigned as accompanist for the Hughes Club, and her place will be filled by Mr. Brethack, formerly accompanist for the Orpheus Club and Loring Club of San Francisco.

YOSEMITE CLUB.

Invitations are out for the "summer party" of the Yosemite Club, to be given Friday evening, August 18, at Maple Hall.

IMPORTANT WEDDINGS.

There were two weddings yesterday of great social importance—the marriage of Miss Leslie Green and Howard Huntington and Miss Margaret Hawes to Captain William G. Hann.

The Green-Huntington wedding was one of the prettiest of the year, and under a floral bower of pink and white the nuptial vows were exchanged. Miss Green was a charming bride and her bevy of attendants made an attractive group.

The wedding presents were numerous and costly and attested the wide popularity of the young people. The bride was the honored guest at a long series of entertainments as soon as her engagement was announced, and her many friends here regret that her future home is to be in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Huntington will spend six months in Europe.

MISS ETHEL McMANUS, who was one of the Reception Committee last evening at the Garden Fete given at "The Lorne" for the benefit of St. Mary's Parish Fair.

The Hawes-Hann nuptials were less elaborate and attended only by a small coterie of friends and relatives. The bride was given away by her brother-in-law, Ernest Coxhead. Captain Hann was attended by Clarence Bickford of San Francisco. After an informal reception at the Coxhead residence, Captain and Mrs. Hann departed on their honeymoon in an automobile to Santa Cruz, Del Monte and other points of interest in the South.

SUMMER OUTING.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Regan and family are staying at the Sea Beach Hotel in Santa Cruz for a few weeks.

Mrs. Isaac L. Requa was the guest last week of the Mark Regans and spent a few days with General and Mrs. Oscar F. Long at Carmel-by-the-sea.

MUSICAL EVENING.

The musical at which Miss George Cope was hostess Monday evening was a pleasant affair. The guests of honor were Mrs. Beatrice Priest-Fine and Miss Grace Rollins.

Among those who contributed to the program were Mrs. Fine, Miss Rollins, Mrs. N. G. L. Hus, the Orpheus Quartet, composed of Messrs. Crandall, McCandish, Redfield and Carlton; John Metcalf and Eugene Blanchard. Assisting Miss Cope in receiving were Miss Vera Cope, Mrs. Hus and Mrs. Reeves Baker. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. John L. Howard, Dr. and Mrs. A. Fine, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Carlton, Miss Margaret Knox, Mr. and Mrs. Crandall, Alex. T. Stewart, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas, and many others.

LARGE RECEPTION.

One of the largest social events in prospect is the first reception of the University year, to be given September 1 in Hearst Hall, when President and Mrs. Benjamin Ide Wheeler will entertain the members of the freshman. The hours will be from 8 until 11.

DIVINE SARAH LOSES HER TEMPER.

PARIS, August 17.—Sarah Bernhardt decidedly lost her temper over the decoration of Madame Bartet of the Comedie Francaise with the cross of the Legion of Honor.

As soon as she heard the news, Mme. Bernhardt took a train, hastily for Paris from Belle Isle, stormed the Ministry of Fine Arts and demanded an explanation of the Minister why she was not honored before Mme. Bartet.

The Minister could not give a satisfactory account, and Sarah means to have the cross if it takes all summer to gain it.

"Not that I feel as eager for it as when I first asked it," she says, "for I've learned that many unworthy people receive it, but the decoration of Mme. Bartet ahead of myself when my application, supported by scores of artists and men of letters, has been before the Ministry for years, constitutes a direct snub, which Sarah Bernhardt is not the woman to receive in silence."

In deprecating Mme. Bartet the Ministry wanted to show the loyalty of the state to an actress who is willing to stay at a state theater in spite of outside pecuniary temptations, and at the same time stop the habit of pensionnaires of the Comedie Francaise leaving to set up independent theaters.

HIGH KICKING FEATURE AT A CHURCH FESTIVAL

"Applejack, when you're ill, makes you well; Applejack makes you ill, when you're well."

The foregoing lines were a catch verse even before the days of Lydia B. Pinkham and perhaps before the venerable Susan B. Anthony got it into her head that all that was masculine did not glitter. Even Ella Wheeler must have heard the lines and been inspired by them.

Be all this as it may, applejack has played havoc in a New Jersey congregation and the young women who partook of it and tried to kick themselves into a state of sobriety, as well as the young men who furnished it, may have to answer for the trouble that occurred at a church festival. Here is what a dispatch from the State of Mesquitos has to say on the subject:

"A gallon of Jersey applejack poured into a large can of lemonade at a church festival has caused no end of trouble in the hamlet of Annandale, sixteen miles from Somerville, N. J."

"After drinking freely of the concoction a number of young people performed antics at the festival which shocked the staid old men and women of the village and stirred up a scandal."

"Just who put the applejack into the lemonade is a mystery which the church committee in charge of the festival has been trying to solve ever since the affair happened a few days ago."

"At first there was an attempt to keep the affair quiet, but the fact that a number of young women of high moral character did a skirt dance and high kicking on the church lawn, while others became hysterical and ill, angered the church committee, so it has been industriously trying to run down the culprits who doctored the lemonade. It is reported that a number of arrests will soon be made and that the community will get another shock when it beholds the suspects."

"A member of the church committee intimates that the applejack was not poured into the lemonade by any member of the Annandale church, but by highly respected members of society of a nearby town."

(They do go some in New Jersey.)

GUIDE TO HEALTH AND BEAUTY

In cases of excessive and painful sunburn lemon juice will allay the irritation right away.

When you feel a fit of the "blues" coming on, hunt up Mark Twain or others of his ilk and dispel it with a hearty laugh.

Mothers should not overlook the fact that sweet milk, fresh eggs and well-cooked cereals are the safest things for a child's summer regimen.

A girl is cramping her chest and interfering with her digestion and respiration when she so constantly indulges herself in the habit of sitting with her arms folded and head drooping forward.

Women who go through the world looking always on the dark side, missing the sunshine scattered along their way, taking no part in the little pleasures of life are rarely good to look upon.

Greatly coveted as is a full, rounding neck, Dame Nature is kind to only a few women even among those who work for a pretty throat most ardently. For such as are not blessed with a beautiful neck, the vogue of the jeweled dog collar makes the decollete evening frock a possibility.

Restful couches are said to have saved more minds and nervous systems than all the physicians and medicine chests put together. They are the best refuge that the overworked house mistress has and their only shortcoming is in want of use. Few women know how much refreshment they can gain from a couch and so do not half enough use them. The restful couch is not a yard and a half contrivance with tough coverings. It is broad and comfortable and soft and luxurious, on which a woman may nestle in peace among the pillows and be cozy comfortable.

Mechanical massage will reduce the chin and there is a little device that comes for the correction of a double chin.

If a child shivers after a sea bath, give it a glass of hot milk. A biscuit after a sea bath is always a good thing.

Children should not be allowed to play too hard or run about in the sun or otherwise overheat and exhaust themselves.

Salt has both cleansing and healing power, and is, therefore, an excellent application for superficial ulcers.

There are various causes for the circles under the eyes. Loss of sleep, worry, constitutional troubles, etc. Try to discover the cause and treat the cause.

White spots on the nails are caused by a stoppage of the flow of the nutrient juices. A paste made of equal parts of refined pitch or of turpentine and myrrh, melted and mixed together and spread on the nails at night will remove them. A little olive oil will remove the paste in the morning.

Pushing forward of the head will in time cause a prominence of one of the vertebrae of the spinal column and an ugly little knob just below the nape of the neck is the result. Later fat may settle around this knob and a little cushion is thus often seen on the back of an otherwise beautiful neck.

As this is the time of the year when many are being poisoned by the wild ivy, an antidote will not come amiss. Get 5 cents' worth of copperas at the drug store and put in a four-ounce bottle. Then pour on it enough sweet milk to dissolve it. Apply with a rag or fingers to parts afflicted. It will give immediate and lasting relief. A second application is hardly necessary.

FELINE MAKES USE OF A MIRROR. WAS MISSING FOR MANY DAYS.

LACONIA, N. H., August 17.—Laconia boasts of a cat which combines science with her natural instincts of bird hunting to a remarkable degree.

She has discovered that when she turns her back toward a flock of sparrows in the street they pay little or no attention to her, and approach quite close. She has also discovered that the plate glass show-window of a jewelry store makes an excellent mirror under certain conditions of light, and that by looking toward the window she can watch the chippies in the street and at the same time give the birds no reason to suspect that she is interested in anything except the gold rings and jewelry display.

Sparrows come along the street every few minutes, and, although at first shy of the cat, they evidently observe that she is paying no attention to them, and gradually work up quite close to her in their search for food. Pussy keeps perfectly passive until one of the birds happens to stray within easy jumping distance, and then she turns like a flash and captures the unlucky bird in an instant.

NOT GUTTED.

Mr. Smith of Baltimore—Was your father's office building burned to the ground?

Miss Jones of Boston—No, the walls were left standing, but the ceiling was completely or—intact.

SPORTS BOXING BASEBALL SPORTS AMATEUR PROFESSIONAL SPORTS

COFFROTH MAY NOT CHANGE DATE EMERSON THE AMATEURS WILL BATTLE AT THE WEST OAKLAND ATHLETIC CLUB

Both Britt and Nelson are now back from the mountain fastnesses and will soon be in training for the battle of September 3-Britt at Sheehan's Beach Tavern and the Battling one at "Smiling" Motzner's hostelry at Lakeside.

The lightweights are both in fine fettle and both say they were never more fit to engage in a finish fight. Both will do considerable out-of-door training to accustom themselves to the conditions that will prevail at Colma on the night of the great fight.

The Dane arrived from Truckee late yesterday afternoon, looking the picture of health and strength. In an interview he said:

"I could hardly wait to get back to the bay and begin work. I would have left Truckee earlier, but I heard that Britt was coming on that train, so I waited."

"Now I have got just what I have been looking for. The best I had hoped was a twenty-round fight, and to have a forty-five round go, with the winner to take all, is much more than I dared believe in. Now it is up to me, and I don't want Mr. Britt to want any more to speak to me. I would rather whip him than any man in the world, and if I do, I can be happy and don't care if he is twenty minutes afterward. You know I offered some labor to him on the winner-take-all basis, or any terms he might name. I would have agreed to split the purse with him, but he said he would not, or any way, just so I got him into the ring."

"I am feeling better than I ever felt in my life, and could go in and fight to-night, only, of course, I am over the weight set for the meeting. I am fat, but it is all good fat, and my weight is just what I want. I will go into the fight in the best condition it is possible to put a man in."

Manager Coffroth has not given an answer as yet to the Native Sons in regard to a postponement of the fight to the committee from this city another is coming from Sacramento. This one will be headed by B. Wilson, secretary of the Admission day celebration committee at Sacramento. The members of the committee will be: B. Wilson, Manager Coffroth yesterday and they will probably meet him in his office this afternoon. Whalen has diplomatically refuses to commit himself before answering the representatives of the Native Sons, he is rushing into labor, which is taken as an indication that no change will be made in the date.

WHALEN WINS WITH HIS BAT.

PORTLAND, August 17.—Jimmy Whalen won his own game from Portland yesterday afternoon by a 3-to-0 score. It was in the seventh inning, with the bases full and two men out, that Whalen came to bat. He played the ball just over first base, and inside the line, scoring two men. Portland had the same opportunity in the ninth, with full sacks and two out, but Eddie Householder failed to deliver the home hit. Whalen had the better of the pitching argument. Score:

GAME POSTPONED.

SEATTLE.—Seattle-Los Angeles game was postponed yesterday on account of the rain.

HAYWARDS IS WINNER IN GAME.

HAYWARDS, August 17.—By a score of 25 to 2 the local nine defeated the famous Sioux Indian team in a night game of ball Tuesday evening. The contest took place on the grounds here, and was witnessed by a large crowd of enthusiasts. All the gate receipts went to the visitors, who received a little more from the treasury of the association here. The visitors provided the electric lights and the grand stand.

On the ring line for the red men were Mr. Whips-the-Enemy and Mr. Fond-of-His-Squaw. They succeeded in striking out six Haywards players. Nagle struck out eight Indians.

The feature of the game was the heavy hitting of the local players. Eight two-baggers were made during the contest. Sixteen hits were made off the pitching of Mr. Whips-the-Enemy, and only three hits were made by the Sioux. The ball used to play with a little larger and softer than the regulation ball and was handled without any difficulty.

Emerson's shoots held the Commuters down to one hit at Recreation Park yesterday, but, at that, Oakland succeeded in scoring once against the two runs, of the Tacoma team.

While Emerson walked five men, his support was errorless, and Van Halten's players were unable to find his curves. The run-began in the fourth inning, when McLaughlin, with two out, hit a pop fly back of the third bag. He advanced to second when Lynch walked, and when Schmidt struck Casey both McLaughlin and Lynch took another. Then a hot liner by Graham brought them both in. Frankes scored for Oakland, after the long walk, when Dunleavy drove a two-bagger to left field. The score:

ROCKEFELLER NOT RYAN'S DOUBLE

NEW YORK, August 17.—"Australian Jimmy" Ryan is showing a swollen jaw and one discolored eye as proof that he was taken for young Mr. Rockefeller yesterday morning in Fifth avenue.

It is Mr. Ryan's habit to walk up to Central Park at about 3 o'clock every morning and take a short stroll under the trees before going to his bed. He says it composes his mind and induces pleasant and profitable thought.

When the pugilist's pedestrianism had carried him, as far as Sherry's, two young men accosted him, the taller acting as spokesman.

"This is young Mr. Rockefeller, is it not?"

"What kid do you mean?" replied Mr. Ryan. "What kid do I mean?"

"My friend here is sadly in need of help," he landed at the speaker, "and is closer to the fighter. You see, sir, he has a position awaiting him in the morning, but lacks the proper raiment to make the front."

Mr. Ryan understood the meaning of "the front" and, rather than "bring the kid into the gutter," then the smaller man, who was with him, met with a half-arm jab in the pit of the stomach, which brought him to his knees.

By this time Mr. Ryan was edged off Fifth avenue and into Forty-fifth street, and both of his young men were standing close beside him.

"Oh, quit your kidding," they cried, "give up what you've got; it's a long time to wait for you."

This was followed by a threatening movement and Ryan made a few him-hims when he landed at the speaker, "and is closer to the fighter. You see, sir, he has a position awaiting him in the morning, but lacks the proper raiment to make the front."

Boxers Ready For The Ring.

Everything is ready at the West Oakland Club for the monthly boxing exhibition tonight, and the card which has been prepared is undoubtedly the best for some time, as it is made up from men who can be relied upon to put up fine bouts. There promises to be a fine evening's sport.

The first bout, between Young Ganley and Kid Josephs, will be lively, as both are anxious to settle the question of who is the better man. They have prepared for a fast fight and both are in the pink of condition.

Loren Brown, the Bellanca Club favorite, and Young Chynski will meet in the next go. Both are fast and clever, and their bout will no doubt be full of action from start to finish. Ed Menser and Kid Williams will try conclusions in the next event.

The principal interest centers in the fight between two heavyweights, Jim Alexander and Jack Hughes, at 165 pounds. Both have a punch in either hand and when they mix the result will no doubt be a whirlwind bout.

Jim Riley and Brock McCarthy will follow in a four-round contest, and they in turn will be followed by Abe Label and Jim Dunn. Label is well known and is one of the best men at his weight in the amateur class. Dunn realizes that he has a hard man to beat, but feels confident of beating Label.

The card is an exceptionally good one and the advance sale of seats has been larger than usual.

WHAT'S DOING IN EASTERN BASEBALL

Although the season is three months along and the pitchers have been extremely effective, 21 batters have made four hits or more in one game. Three sluggers have turned the triple twice, Wallace, Bemis and Bay being the men in question. Jackie made four hits in one game, while he made five in another. Flick and Parent are the only other batters to make five hits in a single game. Eight bases is the record for any one batter in one game. Hickman and Flick sharing the honor, Flick having made a triple, a double and three singles, while Hickman's total of eight came from two hits, both homers. Keeler and Williams of the Highlanders came next, each with seven bases. The total list of those who have contributed batting feats, with the pitchers they were made off of, follows:

Edden, St. Louis, made a triple, a double and two singles in four times at bat off Owen.

Keeler made a homer and three singles in five times at bat off Hughes. Crawford made two doubles and two singles in four times at bat off Josie.

FINISHED PRIZEFIGHTS VS BOUTS OF TODAY

BY LEFT HOOK.

"It requires finish fights to make champions," says Otto Floto, "and not one in ten fighters today, if the finish area was still in vogue, would be following the fistic game for a livelihood."

Right you are, Mr. Floto. With Young Corbett dodging a meeting with Able Attell, who is willing to fight any one in his class any old sort of a fight from three rounds to three hundred, and Jimmy Britt, the champion of the four-fusling native sons, sidetracking Battling Nelson the chances for finish fights do not look very bright.

There are a hundred fighters today where formerly there was one. There are a dozen champions today where formerly there was one. Times have changed the game, and the whole thing can be ascribed to limited bouts and fighting clubs.

In the olden days the champion had to win his laurels with skin gloves in the roped arena, pitched on the turf, and there had to be a winner and a loser. He knew when he entered the ring, he never knew when he was coming out of it. It's only a few years ago that I sat at the ringside at a heavyweight championship contest and one of the principals turned to me and said:

"What round is this?"

"The sixteenth," I said.

"Thank God, I have only four more rounds to go," came the answer.

Can you fancy that kind of a conversation and then remember the batter you used to witness for championship fights? I remember another occasion at a big fight one of the principals was fooling and refusing to fight, and the spectators were hissing him.

"Why don't you fight?" I asked.

"I am stalling until the last four rounds, and then will come strong and win," he said.

SOME OLD-TIME BATTLES.

Then I recall some of the old fights I witnessed and note the difference. Space will permit a review of a few of them. It's still in the memory of old-time sports when Jack McAuliffe and Harry Gilmore fought for the championship of the world in the light-weight class. It was one of the fiercest fights that ever took place and nip and tuck all the way. Gilmore was the champion, and McAuliffe was fast coming to the front. During one of the hot rallies in this day, then our fighters of today box for $1000 a night, and a very tight place, he said to McAuliffe:

"I'll be here a week with you, you dub, and win when I want to."

"Yes, and I'll be here next week or next year with you, you Canadian stiff," came the quick retort.

Fancy some of our present day fighters talk about being in the ring a week. They would drive a street car first. On another occasion McAuliffe and Meyers fought at North Judson, Ind., for $10,000 a side, and probably Dick Roche, Phil Dwyer and Jimmy Colville had beat $150,000 on class chances. As will be remembered, they fought all night, and during that time neither man laid over five times. There was so much money bet on the result that the men simply could not fight.

RICH SARATOGA CUP FOR NEXT SATURDAY

BY THE SAUNTERER.

SARATOGA, August 17.—Saturday at the "Spa" will bring about the running of three big stakes, the Beverwyck Steeplechase, the United States Hotel Stakes, for two-year-olds, and the Saratoga Cup. The last named may furnish one of the most remarkable races of the year. It is a dash of a mile and three-quarters, for $1,500, at weight for age, and is fraught with fascinating possibilities. Artful is deemed a certain starter, and as Syn only is also in, the long hoped-for meeting between these star three-year-olds may come off here. But there is some doubt about Syn only being started. Mr. Keens and his trainer, Jimmy Rows, entertain a profound respect for Artful and may dodge this chance for a race with the fleet daughter of Hamburg because of Syn only's heavy engagements at Sheepshead Bay. Besides this pair, Beldame, Aggie, Ort Wells, Bedouin, Delhi, Coughnagaw, Hermis, Tradition, Tan-y, Cairnform, Adbell and The Picket, now said to be training finely, are among the cut-throat and every prospect of a tremendous race pending. The United States Hotel Stakes is for two-year-olds, at three-quarters of a mile, and is of the guaranteed value of $10,000, with First Water, Don Diego, Accountant, McKittredge, Vendor, Oyama, Bohemian, Kuroki, Ormondale, Mohawk, II, Prosquero, Burmaster, and Pegasus likely to figure in the field of starters. All together the deeds of racing appear to be in for another remarkably entertaining week.

As a result of the raids which precipitated the closing of the Delmar race course in St. Louis county, fans and sports aggregating 155,000 have filed against Governor Folk, Mayor Wells, President Stewart of the police board, Commissioner Frisbie, Blong and Hanton and Chief of Police Kiley, by the Delmar Jockey Club.

Besides these, Mark Gumberts has sued President Stewart, Commissioner Frisbie and Chief Kiley for $10,000 for arresting him at the track. This suit is filed in the county and the others in the city.

The City Counselor will have charge of the defense and will be assisted by some of the ablest lawyers in the city in the event of the suits coming to trial.

It was stated as a certainty by reliable authority today that Douglas Jockey Club, that a meeting will be held there next Saturday that will include a new $50,000 grandstand will be begun immediately. There is little doubt here now that Lur Simons was acting for Cella, Adler & Tilles of St. Louis when he took the track across from Buffalo to the City of the West.

On the authority of George M. Hendrie, president of the club controlling Highland Park and Fort Erie tracks, it is stated that there will be a meeting at Highland Park. However, it has not been settled that all of the dates will be transferred to Fort Erie. It is likely that the present meeting of the track across from Buffalo will be extended to the opening of Toronto on September 16th, and that a meeting of two weeks following Toronto will be held at the Windsor track, which is under lease to the Farmer-Hendrie interests. If this is determined upon the meeting will open September 25th.

Starter Dick Dwyer will close his engagement at Fort Erie August 19th and will be succeeded by the barrier man, Fred Holman, for the last two weeks of the meeting at the Canadian Track. Starter Dwyer will put in a fortnight or so in New York, taking vacation, as it were.

J. H. Cushing and R. H. Harris had a wordy row at Fort Erie recently, which was brought to the attention of the judges and ended in an apology on the part of Harris. Harris, it is said, stated that there was a decision of the officials. Cushing suggested that Harris was wronged. This precipitated the argument.

In the closing race at Latimer the other day, Handy Bill, ridden by Brinegar, carried out Brooklyn extremely wide at the stretch turn, causing the latter's defeat. The foul was a palpable one and, although Handy Bill won easily enough, his number was not displayed. Judge Murphy in explanation of this said: "As the foul was plain and a disqualification must occur, I did not hang out Handy Bill's number, as these backers of Brooklyn and the other placed horses might have torn up winning ticket."

When he won the Great Republic Stakes Saturday, Syn only also won the attention of being the second greatest money winner of the American turf, Domino being first with the grand total of $203,300. Up to date Syn only's winnings foot up as follows: Won as a two-year-old in 1904, $40,000; The Metropolitan Handicap..... 5,500; The Tied Stakes..... 16,000; The Commonwealth Handicap..... 11,000; The Kentucky Realization..... 5,000; The Ironsides Stakes..... 5,500; The Brighton Derby..... 11,750; The Great Republic..... 41,600.

Total.....$146,750.

Prior to yesterday, Kingston ranked second in the American winning list with a total win of $142,562, but Syn only has now relegated him to third place and may even pass Domino's great record of money won before going into winter quarters. He is heavily engaged in the autumn stakes, the $20,000 Century Stakes and $25,000 Annual Champion Stakes at Sheepshead Bay, being two that above would suffice to advance this remarkable young horse well on the road to the $200,000 mark if he should win both. His only remaining engagement at Saratoga is in the Cup, but at Sheepshead Bay he is nominated to the two big races named, and to rich stakes at Brighton Beach, Gravesend and Belmont Park. It was at Gravesend that he had the fortune to own Domino throughout his career as well as the great colt now threatening Domino's supremacy in the list of American winning horses. By way of further coincidence, Delhi won the first Great Republic and Syn only the last, so to him alone belongs the satisfaction attending the winning of America's richest stake for horses three years old and over.

Some rich stakes proffered by the Saratoga Association are to close for entries today. Three are for two-year-olds of 1906 and two for three-year-olds of 1907, and all are events of such long establishment that their names are truly historic in American racing. They are:

To be run in 1906. Two-year-olds. The United States Hotel Stakes, $10,000 guaranteed; three-quarter mile.

To be run in 1907. Three-year-olds. The Flash Stakes, $6,000, guaranteed; five and a half furlongs.

To be run in 1907. Three-year-olds. The Flash Stakes, $6,000, guaranteed; five and a half furlongs.

The Alabama Stakes, $500 guaranteed; one and one-eighth miles.

Western owners and trainers may depend upon the Chicago and St. Louis racing next year as it has been in 1905, and it is equally plain that St. Louis racing is also a thing of the past. In this situation the Chicago racing will be a thing of the past, and the racing will be more than usual, force and every owner of a promising yearling should not hesitate a moment about entering him in the Chicago and St. Louis events at these now soon to close. Their conditions appear elsewhere in this issue and nominations should be mailed to Secretary Andrew Miller, The Windsor Arcade, Fifth street and Fifth avenue, New York City.

Jockey J. T. Patton is making good as a rider of steeplechasers. He has had a most successful time at Latonia, winning two and finishing second in the others. Though an old-timer in the saddle, this is Patton's first season at the cross-country game. It is a fact that a wild west show broncho "Duke" has served him well. When the Western Jockey Club was formed in 1901 Patton stuck with Frank Fowler, the remnant of the American Turf Congress, at the time of the memorable meeting of the eighty-one days at Newport, he, with numerous others, was on the outlaw list, and without a license to ride at any track. The committee was well pleased with the reception it received. During the evening refreshments were served. Later on Mrs. Gurney had open house for all who wanted to see the dance. The ladies that met in the room and the dainties that met the eye were too numerous to mention. Many comments were heard on the excellence of the salad, to say nothing of the other courses. After the court adjourned on Thursday evening, Mrs. Gurney and Mitchell entertained the members with selections on the banjo and guitar. The evening was concluded with a social game of whist.

When the lodge adjourned all present were invited to the adjoining banquet hall, where Conley had a splendid spread prepared to refresh the inner man and to which ample justice was done. Excellent music has been provided and with a good floor all the requisites for an enjoyable evening will be there.

The initiation class will be given the full degree work on Friday evening, the 25th, when District Deputy Supreme President Tobey will occupy the chair. The drill team of the lodge will have charge of the ritualistic work and the candidates will be properly impressed with the solemnity of the step they are taking.

The monthly whist tournament of the lodge will be given on September 1st, and a method has been devised by one of the members of the lodge by which all questions as to the genuineness of the scores of the players will be set at rest as the method will eliminate all chance of mistake, whether intentional or otherwise.

REDUCTIONS MADE FOR SOUTHERN PACIFIC

City Council Completes the Work of Equalizing the Assessment Roll.

The City Council met last night as a Board of Equalization and cleaned up what business was before them. Councilman Masse was chosen chairman. Those present were Councilmen Aitken, Baccus, Burns, Donaldson, Hahn, Pendleton, Thurston and Meese.

The request of J. J. Nichols for a reduction of assessment from $12,000 on Washington Hall in East Oakland to $7,500 was granted. The request of the owner for a reduction on the old Tubbs' home from $6,000 to $4,000 was also granted.

The personal property contained in the building assessed at $6,000, caused some dispute. Mr. Nichols maintained that there was not that amount of furniture in the house. He requested that the assessment be reduced to $1,000. The Council on the statement of Assessor E. E. Bred, however, allowed the original assessment to stand. An assessment of $1,750 on two old buildings on the same property was reduced to $750. Phoenix Iron Works was reduced from $7,500 to $3,500 on the improvements.

The application of Albert Schmidt for a reduction on real estate in East Oakland Heights for a reduction from $350 on land to $100 was granted.

The application of J. B. Buddie for a reduction on property near Merriam Place and Telegraph avenue from $3450 to $2400 was granted.

The application of J. B. McPadden for a reduction from $100 to $1 on improvements in the building was granted.

The application of Margaret Hughes for a reduction on property assessed in lots 6 and 7 in block 214 from $600 to $100 was granted.

The application of J. S. Nalemith for a reduction on property in Block C, Linda Vista Terrace, from $1,200 to $800 on $1,800 on mortgage to $1 was granted.

The application of E. L. Dutton for a reduction on property assessed in lots 12, 13, 14, 15 and 16 in block 84 was granted.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC ASSESSMENTS.
The Equalizers' reduced an assessment of the property of the Southern Pacific Company at Oakland point, consisting of 24114 acres from $200,000 to $100,000. Last year a reduction was made to $110,400 on 29 acres of land and Pendleton.

The decrease of area assessed is due to increased trackage. The State Board of Equalizers assess all the main and side tracks.

Councilman Baccus moved that it be reduced to $100,000.

The motion was seconded by Councilman Hahn and the motion was carried by the votes of Councilmen Baccus, Hahn, Pendleton, Meese, Burns, and Thurston.

Councilmen Aitken and Donaldson voted against the reduction and stated that they wished the old assessment of $110,400 to stand.

A reduction from an assessment of $12,000 to $127,000 was granted the company on a piece of property fronting on the Estuary and lying east of the Forest street slip, containing 102 acres. Last year the same tract of land was assessed as containing 114 acres. This was an error of calculation as surveys this year proved. The company asked that the assessment be reduced to $60,000 to conform in value with the assessment of adjacent property.

Councilman Pendleton made a motion that the assessment be reduced to $1000 an acre to correspond with the assessment of the land of the Western Pacific Company.

On a vote this motion was defeated by the votes of Councilmen Aitken, Donaldson, Thurston and Meese. Councilmen Baccus, Hahn, Pendleton and Burns voted in the affirmative.

A motion made by Councilman Aitken, seconded by Councilman Donaldson, to leave the assessment at $127,000 was defeated by the votes of Meese, Hahn, Baccus, Burns and Thurston.

Councilman Burns then made a motion that the assessment be reduced to $127,000 which would be the same rate as last year with the exception that only 102 acres are assessed instead of 114 acres. This motion prevailed with Baccus, Hahn, Pendleton, Meese, Burns and Thurston voting for it.

Councilman Aitken and Donaldson voted in the negative.

at Fraternity Hall on Thursday evening, August 10th, the Master Workman, Mr. H. C. Gurney, in the chair. There was an increased attendance of members due no doubt to the good work of the quorum committee and the business of the lodge was disposed of with dispatch. After the closing ceremonies the lodge was entertained by a banquet provided by the lodge, many visitors as well as members enjoyed the proceedings with speeches and music. Brother Peterson made his usual weekly contribution of a candidate and the entire class will be initiated at an early date.

ATHENS PARLOR, N. S. G. W.
Athens Parlor No. 155, N. S. G. W., is still adding to its roll of membership. The previous review and Tuesday evening, District Deputies Naegle and Dean were present. On next Tuesday evening the parlor will hold a social session.

OAKLAND TENT, K. O. T. M.
Oakland Tent No. 17, Knights of the Macabees, held its regular review Monday evening. The attendance was good, considering that a large number of enthusiastic members are away on their vacations.

Past Commander W. H. Smith, who has spent the last three months in Mendocino county in search of game, fish and good health, was present. His brown and rugged appearance certainly indicated that he was successful in finding good health, and the thrilling stories as pictured by the past commander's wonderful descriptive ability were to the effect that he had no time for making the game and fish. Sir Knight Smith always has plenty of experience that interests the members of the tent to relate after he returns from his annual outings.

The visiting committee reported the death of Sir Knight F. A. Hawthorne, which occurred in San Francisco August 7.

The condition of Sir Knights Frank Brown and W. S. Budlong had improved since the previous review and they were well on the way to recovery, while there was no change in Sir Knights James Kenney and O. Brooklyn, the former being at Wilbur Hot Springs and the latter at Napa Hot Springs.

The record keeper reported that Sir Knights J. W. Fernandes, I. Pederson, M. Cullickson and Thomas Dick were sick and confined to their homes. Committees were appointed to visit them.

The entertainment committee reported that it had everything arranged for the social dance at the temple on the evening of August 23 and that two complimentary tickets would be mailed to each member of the tent during the week.

Lieutenant-Commander E. B. Sharer of Argonaut Tent No. 33 was present and extended an invitation to all members to attend the "Fraternal House Warming" under the auspices of his tent on Tuesday evening, August 23. As the object of this meeting is to bring about a closer fraternal affiliation of the tents around the bay, all members of Oakland Tent are urged to attend. A good program of entertainment will be rendered.

Past Commanders Dr. F. W. Shore and J. C. Scott spoke at length upon the subject of "Fraternity."

APPOMATTOX RELIEF CORPS.

NEWS OF THE DAY FROM THE SUBURBS

BACK TO THE MINES FOR O'CONNELL

JOHN JEREMIAH O'CONNELL

Brilliant University Student Who Decides to Take Years Work in Delving Into the Mountains.

BERKELEY, August 17.—At least one of the "old guard" of the senior class at the University last year is not to return to college this term, John Jeremiah O'Connell having given it out that instead of delving in book lore this year, he will dig into the mines of Amador county for the next twelve months.

O'Connell appeared on the campus today, and to the scores of friends who expressed pleasure at seeing him back as they supposed for college work, said that it would be "back to the mines" for him, at this time.

O'Connell was that brilliant band of prominent seniors who were very prominent in college activities, practicing ruling student affairs, but who gave so much time to side issues, in behalf of their alma mater that their studies were neglected, and so they could not pass the examinations at the end of the term.

This list of brilliant students included such brilliant men as Eugene Hallett, president of the senior class; Augustus Kenna, editor of the Occident; William Murray, business manager of the Occident and many others who had taken very prominent parts in college work.

Of these men, O'Connell, a witty and talented young Irishman, was one. He plans to re-enter college next year, after a season in the mines has added to the stock of theoretical knowledge he has of the art of digging gold from the hills of California.

LODGES GROWTH ARE FEWER FRESHMEN ARE FEWER Order of Eastern Star Reaches Two Hundred. New Class at University Not So Large.

BERKELEY, August 17.—The membership roll of the Berkeley Chapter No. 155, Order of the Eastern Star, the woman's auxiliary of the Masonic order, was brought to an even two hundred at the regular meeting last Monday night by the admission of three new candidates. The growth of this order in the college town has been little short of the phenomenal. In the few years of its existence the membership has increased by leaps and bounds. Since the beginning of the year the attendance at the meetings has been from eighty to one hundred and twenty-five and in such a pleasing manner are the meetings conducted that the chapter itself is always looked forward with pleasure and participation by the members. The success of the organization has been due in a large measure to the labors of Mrs. E. C. Marilave, worthy matron of the order.

After the regular business of the meeting had been transacted, an informal entertainment was enjoyed, the feature of which was the banquet which had been prepared under the supervision of Mrs. J. D. Waterman, as chairman of the banquet committee. Covers were laid for 125 and it fortunately happened that there were just enough members and visitors present to go around. After the collation had been served, worthy Patron Kelsey, who acted as toastmaster, called upon several of those present for short speeches. The remainder of the evening was devoted to dancing. The meeting was held in the Native Son's Hall.

BERKELEY, August 17.—From presidential indications the freshmen of the University of California will be fewer in numbers this year. Recorder James Sutton reports that there are 508 applicants for admission as against 550 this time last year. Probably 100 more will file their credentials during the next few days. Last year there were 645 regular freshmen admitted, besides eighty-five special students and ninety-five graduate students.

The matriculation examinations, which formerly counted so much on the entrance of freshmen, have now been relegated to a decidedly subordinate position, and there are hardly half a dozen applicants whose admission into the University is depending upon the results of these tests. The change has been brought about largely through the perfection of the system of accrediting the secondary schools of the State and also through the raising of the standard of the entrance examinations. These latter are now chiefly useful for giving undergraduates an opportunity to make up entrance deficiencies with which they were admitted into the University.

With so few applicants actually dependent on the entrance examinations, the college authorities point out that practically all the students asking admission will be received on their credentials, and the figures given above will stand as correct and not susceptible of reduction. The graduate school at Berkeley has grown phenomenally in recent years, and President Wheeler is expecting even a heavier enrollment than that of last year.

THESE ALL NOW TEACH THE YOUNG IDEA University Graduates Who Have Taken Positions in Various Schools

BERKELEY, August 17.—The following appointments of University of California teachers have been reported at the office of the appointment secretary, Mrs. May Cheney. The list is shorter than usual, or shorter than it should be, says Mrs. Cheney, considering the number of positions which have been open to University of California teachers this year, for two reasons. "First, because the class which graduated in May, 1905, must return to college for a half-year of graduate work before its members can secure a recommendation for a teacher's certificate, and only the graduates of former years were available this summer. In the second place because those who are preparing for High School positions take no pains to inform themselves in regard to the combinations of subjects which are commonly in demand. For years certain traditional combinations of subjects have been elected by a large majority of the candidates for teachers' certificates. Naturally when 90 per cent of the candidates wish to teach the same subjects there are not enough positions for all, while positions demanding other subjects cannot be filled because of a dearth of candidates."

LECTURE ON OPEN SHOP IN THE ENCINAL

Walter Macarthur Talks From the Standpoint of a Union Man.

ALAMEDA, August 17.—At a meeting last evening of the Unitarian Club, Walter Macarthur gave a dissertation on the subject of the "open shop." He treated the subject from the standpoint of a union man, and for over an hour held the large audience that was present. The speaker has an excellent voice and a forcible manner of speaking.

After a lengthy introduction, used up in defining the terms which he would employ during his discourse, Mr. Macarthur entered into his subject in a vigorous manner. He said in part:

"By reason of the terms 'open shop' and 'closed shop' people are predisposed to misjudge the terms. The open shop gives an idea of liberty, but it is not liberty; on the contrary, it is the opposite. The term 'closed shop' seems to imply tyranny, but such is not the case. The 'open shop' represents the tyranny of the employer over the employee. In the 'open shop' the employer runs the business and also the business of the employee. Rules, wages and all are at the pleasure of the employer. If they do not suit the humble employee, there is no course left to him but to get out and walk the streets in hunger and want until other work comes in his way. This is indeed a poor privilege.

"Think of the sufferings and hardships that fall upon the family of the workman when he is thus thrown upon the streets. It has ever been my aim to prevent strikes, for I do not believe in them. They bring want upon the families of the workman and upon the public, which is an innocent party to the strike."

From this strain the speaker took up the subject of the fifth of the dairies supplying the milk to San Francisco. He said:

"The fifth of the dairies in San Mateo county, dairies supplying the bulk of the milk supply of San Francisco, is appalling and too vile to consider before an organization of this kind. The dirt and degradation that is thus thrown upon these dairies has no description."

He followed up his subject of strikes, winding up by reading a number of excerpts of writings of the present day on the subject. At the close of the lecture he answered questions put to him by members of the audience.

DONATIONS FOR FAIR Haywards People Prepare For Exhibit.

HAYWARDS, August 17.—Donations for the library and the library fair are pouring in on the trustees. The farmers for miles around are sending offers of fresh poultry, butter and eggs to be sold at the country store. Dealers are offering articles from their stock, and the different lodges have agreed to take charge of booths and refreshment stands.

The fair will be held at the Native Sons' Hall and will open on September 21, lasting three days. On Saturday afternoon, September 23, the library will be dedicated, the address of the day to be delivered by Governor Pardee.

The money raised by the fair is to be appropriated toward furnishing the building, installing a heating and ventilating system, and paying the $500 fee of the architects, Smith and Stone, of San Francisco. The building costs $3650, and has nearly $2000 been collected by L. A. Simmonds of Haywards.

It has just been announced that Henry Payot, who spends his summers at Haywards, has donated fifty volumes, all books of reference, to the stock of the library. He also gave a handsome engraving of the feet long to hang on the walls of the building. Mrs. Wangelor has promised to donate two excellent oil paintings for the same purpose. A committee from the local Carpenter's Union is preparing a life size portrait of C. T. Tynes, who started the agitation which resulted in Carnegie's gift of $100,000 to the building.

There will be another called meeting of the library trustees next week to accept the building, which will at that time be fully constructed and all details finished. L. A. Simmonds is putting the finishing touches on this week. The third quarter of the contract price will be due on the day the construction is declared complete.

TILDEN FEARED ASSASSINS

Statesman's Home Like Mansions of Middle Agos.

NEW YORK, August 17.—Subterranean passages, leading from a secret staircase to stone-vaulted chambers beneath the old Tilden mansion in Gramercy Park, have been brought to light by the contractors engaged in tearing out and remodeling the structure, which is now under course of transformation into a home for the National Arts Club. Many other peculiarities exist in the mansion, which must have been the conception of Samuel J. Tilden himself, and which have remained undiscovered up to this day, although the famous old dwelling has housed many tenants since his removal to Greystone in 1879, where he died in August, 1896.

There is a legend among the old-time residents of the neighborhood that Tilden, who roused a host of enemies by the part he took in the exposure of the Tweed ring, had a fear of secret assassinations, and built his house accordingly.

The interior of the mansion was a work of art in its day, and is scarcely equalled in some respects even now by the palaces of upper Fifth Avenue. In the work of remodeling now under way, the secret staircases and underground passages were discovered.

As the builders, like Mr. Tilden, long since joined their fathers, no explanation can be given for the mysterious passages other than that mentioned by old neighbors.

It was found that the building had three roofs instead of one, and that a tiny staircase led to a secret passage from the second floor. Entrance to it was gained by pressing a knob on a beautifully carved walnut panel.

In the cellar a puzzling labyrinth of vaults and passages was found leading to a bricked tunnel, the walls of which are covered with mold, but which was otherwise perfectly dry. The tunnel, so far as it could be explored, led straight south from the mansion, but its terminus evidently had been closed for many years and the air was found so bad that the wreckers have not ventured more than twenty-five feet into the passage.

COLLINS REPEATS HIS TALE FUGITIVE LAWYER ONCE MORE TALKS OF RELATIONS WITH NEWMAN FAMILY.

VICTORIA, B. C., August 17.—The extradition case against George D. Collins, the lawyer who levanted from San Francisco when under prosecution for bigamy and who was arrested here upon a charge of perjury preferred in San Francisco, is drawing to a close before Judge Lampman.

The evidence is all in, the last being given yesterday afternoon by Collins, at the Judge's request, detailing his life with Agnes Newman, whom he alleges he married by civil contract and later by a church ceremony, which other witnesses swore was a marriage with Charlotte Newman.

He said Agnes Newman previously had always been acknowledged as his wife, but because she was obliged to support her family he left his domicile so that her folks could go there to reside, living himself at hotels and lodging-houses and devoting nearly all his time to his profession, and seeing his wife Agnes about three times a month.

Agnes Newman had been buried publicly as his wife, and the coffin plate bore her name, Agnes Collins, Charlotte Newman and others of the family being present at the funeral and taking no exception. He denied that he had ever married Charlotte Newman, as she averred in the maintenance suit.

Tomorrow counsel will summon up the evidence and all that will then remain will be the decision of the Judge as to whether Collins is to be extradited or not.

NEW THEORY OF THE CREATION

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—Lancelotti's "Ring" theory of the nebular hypothesis for the creation of the universe, which stood service for more than a century in the scientific world, was torn to pieces yesterday by Professor F. R. Moulton of the University of Chicago, who believes that he has made the real solution of the evolution of our solar system.

As told by Professor C. Chamberlain, head of the geology department, Professor Moulton has been working for more than four years to disprove the "ring" theory and to set up what he terms the "spiral" theory. The results of his researches were made known yesterday in a lecture on "The Evolution of the Solar System," delivered by Professor Moulton.

"The ring" theory was brought out by Laplace in 1796 and has been accepted almost universally up to the present time," declared Professor Moulton. "The theory which Professor Chamberlain and myself hold is the spiral theory. We believe a second sun—a disturbing sun—moved down near our sun and caused our sun enormous tidal waves, thousands of miles high. The tidal waves were similar to the tides of the sea. One tide was at the point nearest the disturbing sun and the other tide was on the opposite side. The matter shot towards the disturbing sun. Ordinarily it would have been straight up, but the disturbing sun has orbit. Consequently the masses thrown off were in a spiral direction, one after another, which accounts for the orbits of the planets. The swollen masses were attracted to the large nuclei which made them into planets."

OBJECT TO REDUCTION OF DUTY ON LUMBER

BELLINGHAM, Wash., August 17.—The Chamber of Commerce has, by unanimous vote, sent to the reciprocity commission, now in session in Chicago, an emphatic protest against any attempt to remove or modify tariff on lumber products. The move was made after receipt of a telegram from Victor E. Beckman, secretary of the Pacific Coast Lumbermen's Association, pointing out the grave danger to the lumber industry of Washington lying in any reduction of the duty.

AGREE TO GIVE THE FRANCHISE

Council Committee Agrees to Traction Company's Terms.

The Street Committee of the City Council last night recommended that the Council grant the Oakland Traction Company a franchise to operate a street railway on East Fourteenth street without imposing restrictive conditions.

The motion was made by Councilman Baccus and seconded by Councilman Hahn.

Before the motion was put and carried Councilman Pendleton objected to granting the franchise unless the city of Oakland exacted more money from the railway corporation.

"Mr. Chairman," he said, addressing Councilman Atkinson, "I do not think that the city of Oakland is getting a fair amount of money from the franchisees who operate on the city streets. The city is paying them to operate the street cars. I believe that the local company is asking for a valuable franchise and that the city of Oakland should not give it unless there is an adequate return."

"For instance, last year I understand that from the 2 per cent clause contained in the franchises that the city of Oakland only received $800 or $700. This sum is ridiculously low. Until the company agrees to accept the franchise under the terms the Council wishes to grant it, I am in favor of letting the matter lie as it is."

Secretary Taylor of the Traction Company answered Pendleton. He said: "The conditions in the franchises in Oakland are altogether different. We have not the population here. I will call your attention to the city when you had to pay three fares from Alameda to Berkeley. Even then the roads did not pay. Now you have to pay one fare. The Oakland Traction Company has assisted in building up the city of Oakland. As far as this East Fourteenth street franchise is concerned it is merely straightening our line. We have a franchise on East Sixteenth street. We are willing to abandon this one for one on East Fourteenth street. It is not like we were asking for a new franchise. We are simply asking that the franchise be transferred from one street to another for the purpose of straightening our lines."

"Thurston—We will hear a kick from people if we grant this franchise for nothing."

Donaldson—I am willing to take all the responsibility of the kick. Do you, Mr. Taylor, have the right to carry freight under the Sixteenth street franchise?

Taylor—Yes, sir.

Donaldson—You have not applied for the same right on East Fourteenth street, have you?

Taylor—No, sir; we have waived that right.

Pendleton—How about the curb?

Taylor—Where the curbs are now in granite we will put in granite, or where they are wooden we will replace them with the same material.

The committee then recommended that the franchise be granted.

RIGHTS OF JEWS DISCUSSED

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE HE-BREWS HAVE CONFERRED WITH M. WITTE.

CHICAGO, August 17.—Adolf Kraus returned to Chicago yesterday, well satisfied with the result of the conference of Jewish representatives with M. Witte in Portsmouth Monday night.

"There is no doubt," he said, "from present indications that the Russian assembly when called will take up seriously the question of settling the Jewish rights."

"M. Witte fairly and candidly discussed the conditions as they exist in Russia, and, taking it all in all, we were much pleased with the interview and feel that better times are coming for our people there."

"I notice in some papers the statement that the interview was prompted by Russia's need for money. This is unwarranted, for while unquestionably great financiers were present at that meeting, such a statement is unjust to M. Witte and to the other men present. There was not the slightest reference made to finances."

Can Open The Kneipp Cure For SALOON ROCKEFELLER

PROTEST OF CHURCH MEMBERS
OVERRULED BY COUNCIL.

The protest of J. H. Seaton, the members of the board of trustees of the First Baptist church and others against the opening of a saloon by B. & M. Cianciarulo at 340 Telegraph avenue was heard. It was shown that the proposed saloon was to be established a block and a half from the church.

Mr. Seaton maintained the proposed saloon would depreciate property and be an eye-sore in the neighborhood. His objections were not deemed of sufficient weight by the committee, which overruled the protest.

The following list of names were favorably recommended: M. Baptista, 1651 Pacific street; Bush & Ballard, 1151 Washington street; Barlasconi & Bosaccio, 601 San Pablo avenue; J. J. Harrington, 805 Willow street; Hehr & Noman, 459 Washington street; Kohler & Wolbold, 212 San Pablo avenue; Jacob Kornharren, 590, Twenty-second street; F. R. Nield, 629 San Pablo avenue; Bisio & Consalation, 622 Broadway; J. E. McVoy, 442 Twenty-seventh street; Wynick & Decolo, 468 Seventh street; Turner & Detson, 1768 Seventh street; Mason & Bounney, 421 Tenth street; R. Simz, 367 E. street; Gordon & Wood Company, 801 Willow street; Chaplin & Saracco, 950 Broadway.

AGED OIL MAGNATE TURNS TO NATURE TO RESTORE HEALTH.

CLEVELAND, August 17.—John D. Rockefeller has decided to try the Kneipp cure. After scientists and medicine have failed to restore his health, he has turned to nature for relief.

It was after dawn, when the lawn was still wet with dew, that Mr. Rockefeller was seen to come from the kitchen door of the Forest Hill home and step out upon the lawn. Around his form he drew a bath robe and he shivered as the chill morning air swept about his skirts and displayed two bare feet. Plunging boldly on, Mr. Rockefeller walked through the grass, his figure resembling a restless spirit as he strode back and forth and around the house.

Mr. Rockefeller did not seem to care who saw him. Possibly he thought that the early hour would prevent curious eyes from prying, but he neglected to count upon the milkman, the news carrier and a few belated pedestrians, who stopped on their way to witness the spectacle of the wealthiest man in the world parading upon the lawn with a look of firm determination upon his face.

Although Mr. Rockefeller was once a barefooted lad, his feet had long grown tender by their incensement in modern footwear and he was heard once or twice to murmur "ouch" as he stepped upon rough places. This convinced interested spectators that Mr. Rockefeller was not walking in his sleep, as was suggested by a night hawk cabman who stopped to witness the performance.

After a half hour's vigorous exercise Mr. Rockefeller returned to his room. Beads of perspiration stood upon his brow and his face had a ruddy color. He appeared in excellent spirits and seemed to enjoy the exercise.

Mr. Rockefeller's adoption of the cure originated by the Rev. Father Kneipp is only a part of the general scheme which he has decided to follow in the hope that his health may be restored to normal condition.

BURNS SAYS HE IS A NATIVE.

Tommy Burns, who meets Dave Barry the last day of this month at Woodward's, takes exception to the printed story that he is a French-Canadian. It has been told that Burns was born in Canada and raised in Detroit and that he was of French extraction. That the stories of Tommy's native are not true is shown by the statement Burns makes to the effect that he was born in San Francisco.

"I was born down on Fifth street in the 700 block," said Burns, "but I do not remember distinctly the house for I was but nine months old when I went to Canada with my parents. I was raised in Canada and that's how that story originated about me being born up there. It didn't seem to bother my mind any and I paid little attention to the stories and would perhaps never have thought to claim France as my birthplace had it not been that I was matched to a young man, Dave Barry. My parents live in Detroit now and I have lived there since I was fifteen years old. That's where I learned to box."

Burns is training hard for the contest with Barry and he says he will not permit himself to get into the habit of holding his opponents cheap. Tommy would train as hard for an ordinary battle as he would for a championship affair and notwithstanding that he has a decision in his credit over Dave Barry he is putting in hard licks at his San Rafael training school.

Burns is training harder for this contest than he has ever before trained and is looking the picture of good health. The Irish lad says Burns' live in Detroit lights turned out in the Tacoma fight to save Tommy from a knockout.

"I would never have got up to continue the fight," said Dave. "If it had not been that the lights were dimmed and by the time they were turned on again he had enough rest to brighten up and continue. I want to see him start something like that here and the Irish lad punched a heavy bag until the rollers rattled with the strain."

Barry says he will fight any middleweight in the world if he is successful in his coming bout with Tommy Burns.

Is Prompt and Pleasant.
The prompt results produced by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, together with its pleasant taste, have won for it a place in many households. Mr. W. T. Taylor, a merchant of Wetlow, Ala., writes: "I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy myself and also with many on my place, for diarrhoea and colic, and it always gives relief promptly and pleasantly. I have saved many lives. Send me a bottle of the Remedy. I will send you ten cents in stamps for sample to the H. J. Rogers Company, Detroit, Michigan. J. W. Taylor, Special Agent."

"NAN" MAY WED FORMER HUSBAND

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The New York newspapers are filled with sensational stories of "Nan" Patterson's latest escapade and her hurried flight to Washington to escape a horsewhipping at the hands of the sister-in-law of Ralph Ash, the Duluth millionaire, and a married man whose money "Nan" has been squandering.

Filled with apprehension lest these stories might cause a further prosecution of "Nan" on the "Caesar" Young murder charge, the Patterson family has caused to be circulated a story that she has lately led a quiet life and will remarry her former husband (Grandolph) from whom she was divorced.

The Colonel's Waterloo.
Colonel John M. Fuller, of Honey Grove, Texas, nearly met his Waterloo from Liver and Kidney trouble. In a recent letter he says: "I was nearly dead of these complaints, and although I tried my family doctor, he did me no good; so I got a 50c bottle of your great Electric Bitters, which cured me. I consider them the best medicine on earth, and thank God who gave you the knowledge to make them." Sold, and guaranteed to cure Dyspepsia, Biliousness and Kidney Disorders by Osceola, Druggists, 1214 and Washington and Seventh and Broadway, 50c a bottle.
